DEMOCRATS READY TO OPEN CONVENTION

Leaders in St. Louis to Act Upon Final Arrangements for the Opening Session

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 12.—Preliminary to the opening of the democratic national convention the members of the national committee were here today to meet and pass upon the final arrangements for the convention whose 192 delegates are to name the party ticket. The committee also had before it five contests three of which involve the seats of the national representatives from the District of Columbia, Hawaii and Texas. Another contest involves the seat of a delegate from Hawaii, and the fifth contest embraces a protest against the seating of the six delegates from the District of Columbia.

"We expect short session of the committee," said Chairman McCombs. "The convention arrangements are all perfected and the contests before the committee should be speedily settled. We have made a change in our convention program. The first session will be held Wednesday night. The temporary chairman will make the keynote speech and the committees will be appointed. The next day the convention will hear the speech of the permanent chairman and addresses of prominent democrats.

"On Friday there will be a morning session when the platform will be read and adopted and on Friday night we will name the ticket."

National Chairman McCombs held a conference with Senator William J. Stone, who will be chairman of the resolutions committee. Senator Stone brought with him from Washington certain drafts of more important platform resolutions which have been drafted by President Wilson and his advisers in congress and in the cabinet.

Principal Planks

The principal planks that await presentation to the platform committee are foreign relations, the Mexican situation, preparedness and the tariff. The foreign relations plank will set forth the unprecedented conditions that have arisen as a result of the war and it will be pointed out that while President Wilson has kept this country from strife he also has maintained a neutrality both "strict and honest."

The plank on the Mexican situation will develop that this question has been approached with the idea of keeping peace not only with the Mexican republic but to maintain peace within her own borders.

On the question of preparedness the platform will assert that the party has met the demands of the world-wide situation by an advanced stage of preparedness of the navy and the enlargement of the army and the reorganization of the National Guard.

The tariff plank will point out the reduction of tariff duties so that income from that source in normal times would meet the needs of the government is an achievement of the democratic party.

For Chairman of Convention

The national committee are awaiting an intimation from President Wilson as to whom he would prefer as the chairman of the committee to succeed Mr. McCombs, who has announced his retirement. It is learned that word has been sent to President Wilson asking him to suggest the name of a chairman who would be agreeable to him that the new committee may act upon the suggestion immediately after the final session of the committee. Committee members here say that if President Wilson's choice lies within the committee membership it probably will be Vice Chairman Homer Cummings of Connecticut. Mr. Cummings said that he was not a candidate for the office, but if called upon would serve.

Early trains brought scores of delegates and visitors to St. Louis today and on Friday. Chairman McCombs said there was every indication that large crowds would attend the convention.

"This is a remarkable tribute to President Wilson and the party," said Mr. McCombs. "When one considers that the convention takes the alluring feature of an exciting contest over the head of the ticket."

Argument for Suffrage

Mrs. Florence Undergraf, the suffragist leader of New York, believes that the "golden lane" in which several thousand women, dressed in white with yellow sashes and carrying yellow parasols will stand in silence on both sides of the main street through which the delegates will pass on their way to the convention is going to be an effective argument for suffrage.

Democratic Leaders Leave Washington

—Homer Cummings is Favored for Chairman

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Democratic leaders today were departing for the party convention at St. Louis with President Wilson's final suggestions on work of the assembly. The president also planned to leave Washington for St. Louis.

The most impressive scene witnessed in connection with the Preparedness parade to be held in this city Wednesday evening was staged at the high school this forenoon when Congressman John Jacob Rogers addressed the boys of the high school regiment on what the Preparedness parade stands for. Principal Irish called a mass meeting of the boys and every seat in the hall was occupied. The reception given the congressman is best told in his own words: "I think it was one of the most flattering receptions I ever received in my life. It was actually inspiring. There is nothing so grand as youth after all. I sincerely hope the boys will all turn out and I feel that they will. It was worth the trip from Washington to meet them and talk to them."

Miss Jennie L. Allen, president of the Lowell Teachers' organization, spoke with Congressman Rogers after the meeting. Miss Allen had heard part of Mr. Rogers' talk to the boys. She also heard how wildly and enthusiastically they had cheered them and she said she wished he could find his way clear to talk to the teachers for she felt the congressmen's enthusiasm and influence and inspire them to parade. Mr. Rogers said he why you ought to march even though you are not obliged to.

"Lowell, more than any other city in the world, needs just such a demonstration as is being planned for Wednesday night. Why? Because about four out of every five persons in Lowell, according to the latest census reports, are of foreign birth or parentage and I presume that applies to this school. We have a higher percentage along this line than any other city in the country and it is, therefore, necessary that we should do our share in the wedding process that is necessary for true patriotism."

"If I had my way about it I would call it America First parade instead of Preparedness parade, for even though we have many races and many opinions we are Americans and truly has it been said that the United States is the melting pot of the world."

"You all know United States history and it is not necessary for me to recall that United States had a Civil War 50 years ago but I mention it to point out the fact that the war was followed by seasons of prosperity and we paid very little attention to the outside world. We rather felt that we were separate and apart from other nations, isolated by oceans and traditions. We were not much interested in what other countries were doing and then came the Spanish war. We began to think a bit more seriously then. I was colonel of the high school regiment at that time and I remember we acted as guard of honor for the boys who fell at Cuba and Porto Rico. I think we acquired some knowledge then, perhaps, of what preparedness meant."

"In 1914 the European war broke out and then we had our real awakening. Little things began to leak out and it developed that we didn't have ammunition on either the Atlantic or Pacific coast to stand invasions off for by Principal Irish and the latter was given a great reception. "We are going to have a big parade Wednesday evening," said Mr. Rogers. "and boys are invited. You don't have to march, but I am going to tell you

HUGHES IN NEW YORK OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN

Confers With Wickersham, Alleged Mediator in Plans to Gain Support of T. R.—Others Call

NEW YORK, June 12.—The first organized political move in the furtherance of the campaign for the election of Charles E. Hughes was announced today upon the arrival of the republican candidate from Washington. It was the revival of the Hughes alliance, an organization of republican, democratic and independent voters which came into existence during the second campaign of Mr. Hughes for governor of New York in 1905. The announcement was made by Travis H. Whitney, public service commissioner, one of the first to meet Mr. Hughes on his arrival on an early morning train. Mr. Whitney accompanied the presidential candidate to the Hotel Astor where Mr. Hughes established his headquarters. He said the same men who were identified with the Hughes more than 40 minutes. Wasn't that a fearful awakening?

"We remember the naval battle in the North sea when a British ship sunk a German ship because the latter was not fast enough to keep out of her way. The German ship couldn't go fast enough to keep out of danger, but we learned a little later that the slow German ship was faster than the fast ship in the United States navy. That was another tough awakening."

"We are pursuing a villainous character now in Mexico. We are chasing that bad man Villa and I presume you read in the papers within a day or two that Gen. Funston sent back word that he can't do any more unless the government sends him more men. But the government has no more men of this regular army to send and yet might be interested to know that Washington is unprotected today. The soldiers there have been sent to Mexico and the capital is unprotected."

"We gave all our aeroplanes concentrated in Santiago and I was there just a year ago. I was ambitious to fly and I made my first trip with the fellow who has the reputation of being the best flyer in the United States army. It was a wonderful sensation. I remember my distinct disapproval of the way the thing occurred in the air. I was a ship in a storm at sea. I had read about pockets in the air and I thought by the way the aeroplane was acting that he had entered a pocket. Pretty soon we started for the ground and I want to say that we started and landed with emphasis. I asked after landing what the matter was and I was told that a wire had stretched. I became a bit inquisitive as to the importance of the wire and found that it controlled the steering gear—a rather important wire. The United States has over 100,000 people and just 12 aeroplanes with which to guard frontier and seacoast. I wanted to take a spin some of the coast of the United States and Santiago and found that none of them were in condition to fly. The machines lacked preparedness."

Prepare Against War

"We do not want to embark upon a militaristic policy. All we seek is a reasonable position among the nations of the earth—not to prepare for war, but to prepare against war. The difference in preparing for war and preparing against war is as great as the space between the stars. There are millions of people in the United States and they want to be assured that they won't have to fight."

"There seems some hesitancy on the part of some about joining in such a parade as we are planning for Wednesday night, but I would respectfully call your attention to the fact that President Wilson is going to march in the preparedness parade in Washington. There is nothing childish or boyish about this parade business. It is really the biggest thing that either you or I can do. Human nature is the same in this school today as it was in 1893 and I remember that we used to think it smart not to drill. We used to think it was cute to get a certificate from a physician proving unfitness for military exercise and then play on the football team."

"But I tell you, boys, that it is a mistake to slight military drills for you will realize later on that they were among the most consequential things at school. I hope you will try to realize what a great benefit you are sure to derive from the drill and I hope you will take my word for it that you cannot afford to leave it out of your curriculum." (Great applause.)

The Boys Enthusiastic

After Mr. Rogers had finished, Mr. Carl D. Burr, sub-master at the high school, said a few words to the boys and it was plain to be seen by the reception given him that Mr. Burr stands all right with the boys and was also true of Principal Irish, who was cheered to the echo—and then some. Mr. Burr told the boys that they will be on trial Wednesday evening. He hoped they would practice self-denial and self-sacrifice by flying two hours of their own time to the Preparedness parade, the pur-

B. & M. REORGANIZATION

PETITION FOR EXTENSION OF TIME OPPOSED BY CONRAD W. CROOKER

BOSTON, June 12.—The petition of the Boston & Maine railroad for an extension of one year in the time allowed for reorganization of the road under the act passed in this state last year was opposed at a hearing before the public service commission today. Conrad W. Crooker, representing the Minority Stockholders' Protective association, said the petition should be refused unless the directors could show prospects of success in their efforts at rehabilitation. He questioned whether any effective plan had been devised. Counsel for the directors argued against the necessity of airing the proposals now under consideration.

German Attack on Verdun Has Again Swung to East of the Meuse—Two More Neutral Merchantmen Sunk

The German attack on Verdun has again swung to the east of the Meuse, following the assaults of Saturday night on the French positions near Hill 304, west of the river. Last night German infantry charged French positions west of Fort Vaux, but the French war office reports was unable to gain ground.

At the same time the French positions near Fort Souville and Tauxannes south of Fort Vaux, were bombarded heavily. Paris looks for a severe struggle for possession of Fort Souville, to which bombardment may be preliminary. Should the Germans capture the fort they would open a breach in the French defense which might compel the French to abandon this entire line and fall back on the inner defenses on the right bank of the river.

West of the Meuse the only development of the night was a heavy artillery action in the vicinity of Chateaufort.

Russian Push On

The spectacular Russian advance in Galicia and Volhynia apparently has not been checked, although few details of this campaign are permitted to come to light. Vienna concedes the withdrawal of Austrian troops in north-eastern Bukovina, where the advance of the Russians has brought them

TWO NEUTRAL VESSELS SUNK

The sinking of two more neutral merchantmen is reported. The Swedish steamship Enmy has been destroyed by a mine off Falsterbo with the loss of five men. The Norwegian steamer Bur also has been sunk, whether by mine or torpedo is unknown. Fifteen men from the Bur have been landed at Ymuden, Holland.

RUSSIAN ROUT OF THE AUSTRIANS—CAPTURE 108,000 PRISONERS

LONDON, June 12.—The great Russian offensive in Galicia and Volhynia has assumed such tremendous proportions that the Austrian retreat has become a rout.

The enormous numbers of prisoners being captured daily is only explainable on the theory that the Austrian forces are demoralized by the suddenness of the onslaught, or that Slav regiments are surrendering wholesale on the slightest pretext.

108,000 Prisoners

Petrograd reports about 105,000 officers and men captured in practically a week's fighting. Of these, 403 officers and 25,000 men were captured in Saturday's fighting alone.

The Russians have also captured 124 cannon, 150 machine guns, 55 bomb throwers and great quantities of all kinds of war material.

They have secured possession of the famous strategic position known as the Volhynian Triangle, with its triple fortress of Lutsk, Dubno and Rovno, and are in a position to march on Lemberg, only a short distance farther west.

Following is the report given out by the war office at Petrograd yesterday:

Russian Statement

"Our offensive in Volhynia, Galicia and Bukovina obtained fresh success yesterday. The enemy armies continue to suffer enormous losses in prisoners alone."

"The fierce attacks of our troops are throwing into our hands thousands upon thousands of prisoners and booty of all kinds, the exact estimation of which is as yet impossible."

"For instance, in a single sector on the enemy front, we captured 21 searchlights, two convoys, 23 field kitchens, 47 trains of machine guns, 12,000 pounds of barbed wire (a pound is equivalent to 35 pounds), 100 concrete planks, 2,000,000 cubes of concrete, 10,000 pounds of coal, enormous depots of ammunition and quantities of arms and other material."

FOR DEFECTIVE SIGHT

Commission for the Blind Recommends Classes in Schools—Occupational Colony Proposed

Special to The Sun
STATE HOUSE, Boston, June 12.—At least one-tenth of one per cent. of the school children in Massachusetts require special education in defective eyesight, or conservation of eyesight, classes, according to an estimate made by the Massachusetts commission for the blind, in its annual report issued today.

Special studies made during the year in Springfield, Worcester, New Bedford, Lynn and Cambridge are made the basis of the estimate; in Worcester, 125 children in the second grade schools were found to have one-half or less of normal vision, and although the investigation is not complete, 12 were found who require special classes. In New Bedford the number of children requiring special defective eyesight classes is 33; in Lynn 15; and in Cambridge 20. Springfield has already established such a class with 12 pupils.

The commission's figures show that 17 of the children examined in all the cities should be transferred to such classes; if this percentage should hold throughout the commonwealth, there would be 650 children in need of such special opportunities.

In making this estimate, however, the commission points out that it includes only such children as are laboring under most obvious visual handicaps. If those less obviously handicapped were to be included, the commission says, the number might well be multiplied by four.

In New Bedford, a total of 479 children were found with vision one-half or less of normal, and of these 251 were neither wearing glasses nor had they been examined by experts; in Lynn the figures were 580 and 352; while Cambridge made a far worse showing, with 324 and 645. In these three cities, among 462 children whose work or health would have been threatened by neglect of their eyes, 273 when examined and prescribed for by experts found enough vision to continue work in the regular public schools. In almost all of these cases, the commission says, proper eyeglasses were all that were needed.

The Workshops

After explaining the results accomplished in its workshops for adults, the commission makes a plea for authority to establish an occupational colony, to supplement, rather than to replace the existing shops, expressing the opinion that it will provide both an adequate centre for industrial training for men and regular institutional occupation for certain groups.

"Such a colony is needed," the commission says, "first, for training purposes, both to relieve the established, non-resident shops and to provide a residential centre where time and supervision may be given more freely than in a shop to the special needs of the individual; it is needed, in the second place, in order to provide for certain men who would be either happier or safer in such an institution than in the community; it is needed, in the third place, for that type of unskilled man who cannot earn his living in a non-resident shop, but who can be made useful and to a degree self-supporting in such a place."

"It should be made clear at the start that residence in this proposed colony is to be purely voluntary. It is to serve the double purpose of a training institution, where men may be tried out in order to discover what they are best fitted for, and for a true colony, where certain of them may be given continuous employment as long as they are able and willing to do their share. The colony, therefore, is designed to accommodate a changing group, the more self-reliant men being transferred to outside employment as they show themselves prepared, those entirely incapable or those unwilling to do their

WOMEN AT ST. LOUIS

Suffrage Forces Pouring Into St. Louis to Insist on Plank in Democratic Platform

ST. LOUIS, June 12.—Disappointed, but not dismayed by the result of their labors at the republican convention, women suffragists yesterday began pouring into St. Louis to insist on a full-fledged equal rights plank in the democratic platform.

Regarding their failure to induce the republicans to include suffrage by constitutional amendment as a temporary setback, the suffrage leaders insisted that good might come out of the situation. Democratic leaders, they argued, should take action to capture the very large woman vote in the suffrage states.

A declaration for woman suffrage in the democratic platform, suffrage leaders insisted, would mean added thousands of votes for President Wilson and the rest of the ticket this fall.

Many political observers predict that inasmuch as the nominations virtually are conceded in this contest, the most interesting fight will centre on the suffrage issue. Peace and prohibition, of course, will attract much attention, but the suffrage leaders insist that these issues soon will be overshadowed by the dominating influence of the question of equal rights.

Neither delegates, leaders nor crowds will be permitted until the last moment of the convention to forget suffrage. There will be street parades and other demonstrations, and 21 women will sit in the democratic convention. Thirteen will be delegates with the privilege of ballot of presidential and vice presidential nominees and eight are alternates.

ALLEN OUT FOR HUGHES

Mosses Swinging Into Line—Thinks Roosevelt Will Support Hughes in Coming Campaign

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 12.—Henry J. Allen, Kansas progressive leader, here as a newspaper correspondent, reporting the democratic convention who has announced his support of Mr. Hughes today expressed belief that Col. Roosevelt also will take an active part in the Hughes campaign.

Mr. Allen said that former Representative Victor Murdock, chairman of the progressive national committee was more prominently suggested to succeed Col. Roosevelt as progressive standard bearer if Col. Roosevelt finally refused the nomination.

"I think the hour is too important for any man to worry about the name of a party he is going to support," said Mr. Allen. "If Col. Roosevelt accepts the splendid statement of Mr. Hughes as meeting the conditions which he laid down to the progressive convention, a majority of the progressives in the central and northern states will support Mr. Hughes."

"As far as I am personally concerned, if Col. Roosevelt declines the progressive nomination, I will support Mr. Hughes. I think the fight is going to be cleanly between Wilson and Hughes, and in that case I prefer Hughes."

"As I read the Hughes statement it seems to me to meet the conditions laid down by Col. Roosevelt, and I believe Col. Roosevelt will maintain rather an important relationship to the Hughes propaganda."

Mr. Allen said Gov. Johnson of California was going to Oyster Bay to urge Col. Roosevelt's acceptance of the progressive nomination and that the progressive leaders were considering the selection of Justice Hughes to fill the Roosevelt vacancy as the progressive presidential nominee with Col. John M. Parker of Louisiana as the vice presidential candidate in order to maintain the party's existence and its right to a place on state ballots, especially in the south.

SHOCK OF COASTER FATAL

GIRL RIDER DIED FROM HEART FAILURE AT SALISBURY BEACH YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

SALISBURY BEACH, June 12.—Heart failure, induced, it is believed, by the sudden downward lurch of a roller coaster car in which she was riding at Salisbury beach, caused the death of Miss Bessie Wentworth, 29 years old, of West Lebanon, Me., late yesterday afternoon, while she was being rushed to the Newburyport hospital.

With her cousin, Miss Vivian Wentworth of Georgetown, whose guest she has been for several days, the young woman boarded a car on the roller coaster to experience the thrills of "taking the dips." At the very first dip, she caught her breath sharply and sank back in the car unconscious, remaining in this posture until the trip was completed.

An ambulance was summoned to take the young woman to the hospital. She died on the way to the hospital, without having regained consciousness.

Miss Wentworth had practiced her profession of nursing in West Lebanon since her graduation from the Malden hospital several years ago.

ULTIMATUM OF R. R. MEN

Employees Decline "Yard Stick" Method of Compensation—Railroads to Reply

NEW YORK, June 12.—The conference between the representatives of the railroad men and the railroad companies, called to avert a threatened general strike, came to a sudden halt shortly after resuming sessions here today when the railroad men submitted a counter proposition to the demands of the men. The workers have asked for an eight hour day, time and a half for overtime, and the continuation of the existing rules calling for double compensation for different classes of services during the same working day.

The conference adjourned until later in the day when the railroad men will make reply to what the railroad men consider the ultimatum of the men, declining to consider the railroad's proposition, described as the "yard stick" method of compensation.

The railroad men's answer to the men's demands was a tentative offer of compromise granting the 8-hour day and overtime, providing the double compensation rule is wiped out. In other words, the railroad men maintain that if the men desire a shorter working day they must put in the full time in whatever class of service they are assigned. Under the existing rules an engineer on a hundred mile run—usually considered a day's work—is granted overtime if within his working day he performs another class of service.

The break came following the reading of the outline of the "yard stick" method of Ellsha Le, chairman of the railroad managers. Objections were immediately made by the brotherhood leaders.

A. P. Garretson, president of the Order of Railroad Conductors, voiced the sentiment of the men when he said in reply to Mr. Lee: "Our proposition is not modifiable—it is either it or nothing. Our proposition's chief demand is the eight hour day. The overtime is simply a penalty to enforce it. Our answer is that if the 'yard stick' is your ultimatum offer there is no reason for the continuation of this conference."

Timothy Shea, president of the firemen's organization, asserted that the "yard stick" method, when put in operation on western roads following the agreement 15 months ago, reduced the earning power of the men considerably.

Chairman Lee declared he could not agree with the brotherhood. The overtime he said, instead of enforcing the 8-hour day would act as an incentive to the men to lengthen their day's work. He declared the attitude of the men made it impossible to proceed and he ordered an adjournment until the afternoon, when he would announce, he said, whether the railroad men will continue with the conference or not.

morning was one from Lieut. Governor Calvin Coolidge. The latter speaks for itself.

June 10, 1916.

Hon. James E. O'Donnell, Lowell, Mass.

My dear Mr. O'Donnell:

I have your very kind invitation for June 14, for which I thank you. I shall try and come to Lowell and will undertake to let you know later as to the time of my arrival. It is possible that something may prevent my coming, but I do not now see anything that can do so.

Cordially yours,

Calvin Coolidge.

Word was also received from Lieut. Col. E. B. Buck, U.S.A. The colonel was invited to come to Lowell and review the parade and he accepts, with pleasure, the invitation. Others heard from are Gen. Adelbert Ames and Brig. Gen. Philip Reade, U.S.A. (retired). Gen. Ames said he would come. Brigadier General Reade said he would be delighted to come, but that a previous engagement stood in the way. He assured the mayor, however, that he would be here in spirit. The following is culled from his letter to the mayor. It has to do with respect for the flag and is worth reading:

"When the United States flag is borne through the streets of the City of Springfield, my native city, I hope you will join in all that when the flag is at six paces from a person, let those who are sitting, stand; those who are talking, cease to talk; let all look at the flag until it has passed six paces beyond; at the same time uncover, or salute. Even the ladies can do this act of recognition by a wave of the hand, or kerchief or some such gesture of respect."

I further hope the head of the police department will exact similar recognition of our national emblem on the part of the guardians of the peace.

The Women's Division

Miles Grace Cunnock announced today that a slight error had appeared relative to the drill to be held at the armory in Westford street this evening at 7:30 o'clock. It was announced that the drill was open to all women desirous of participating in the parade. But the drill is only for the industrial section of which Mrs. H. D. Pickering has charge.

The committee in charge of the women's section is very anxious to organize a company from the Highlands. Those wishing to march will please notify Mrs. Frederick W. Farnham, 60 Marlborough street, telephone 2088-W, or Mrs. Lewis E. MacBryne, 6 Belmont street, telephone 2311-W.

If the women will all dress in white, as was suggested today, they will present a pretty picture. It was announced today that there are 1000 flags at Challinor's for the women, and that the time for getting them will expire Tuesday afternoon. The Martha service, as was stated by Secretary Murphy, will donate signs for some of the divisions.

As to the formation for the women's division, Miss Cunnock has learned from the chief of staff that the women will form in Rock Central street with right resting on Davis square or Gorham street, and if necessary the tail end of the division will extend into Cedar street. The women will disband at the junction of Salem Common and Clark street, at a point known as Castle square. Automobiles and carriages for the women, will be taken in Salem street.

German-American Club

Among the associations heard from today was the German-American Social club. The news from the club was to the effect that it would participate in the parade. The Newton Mfg. Co. also sent word that it would join in the parade.

It is expected that the Lowell Lodge of Elks will turn out to a man. The Elks are having flag day exercises of their own and it will be necessary for them to leave the ranks as early as possible. They will be given a position in line that will assist them in making a quick getaway. But it must not be understood that the Elks are not going the distance. They will see the parade through to a finish and all they ask is an opportunity to get back to their headquarters in order that they may proceed with the exercises which they put back for a few hours in order to take part in the parade.

A meeting of the committee of the Lowell Acile of Eagles to make further arrangements for the Preparedness parade was held yesterday afternoon. The Lowell Cadel band has been engaged to escort the aerial in the parade and the committee has also secured 1000 flags for the members. From present indications it looks as if the aerial will turn out to a man.

Twenty Bands in Line

Two days ago it was believed that 12 bands would be in line, but it looks now as if there would be about 20 bands and eight or ten drum corps. The affair is growing every hour and every member of the committee on arrangements believes it will be the biggest thing of its kind in the history of the city. Everybody is enthusiastic and desirous of assisting in making the affair a big success.

Arrangements were today to have bay scouts for standard bearers. The women managers will hold another meeting in Page's banquet hall tomorrow forenoon at 10 o'clock, and will be addressed by Gen. Gardner Pearson. Congressman Rogers addressed the college club members at the Whistler house this afternoon.

It was also stated at headquarters today that L. A. Derby would add a beautiful electric float to the parade. It was also made known for the first time that the Lowell board of trade will have a large delegation in the parade, 30 favorable responses having been received to the first call. The committee on arrangements will furnish a band for the high school girls if they want to parade. The parade will start at 7:45 p. m. and not one second later. Extra cars will be put on the Fletcher street line to carry the women marchers out of the congested district. Supt. Farrington of the Bay State street railway attended the committee meeting this morning for the purpose of ascertaining what would be required of the street railway company on Wednesday and Wednesday evening. Lowell's flag day and parade have been advertised in other cities, and Secretary Murphy, who has had this matter in hand, told Mr. Farrington that in his estimation the crowd in Lowell on Wednesday would be the largest in the city's history. All of the Bay State's cars are marked "On to Lowell."

Another club which was voted to turn out in the parade is the Broadway Social and Athletic club, which held a largely attended meeting at its room Sunday. President Timothy O'Sullivan presiding. Considerable business of importance was transacted and all arrangements pertaining to the parade were gone over. The following committee was appointed to have charge of the smoke talk and entertainment to be held at the rooms of the club after the parade: Thomas E. Smith, William Walsh, James Cadden, Patrick Royal and John O'Brien. All members are requested to meet at the rooms of the club at 7 o'clock on Wednesday night.

See Nature at Her Very Best in Glacier National Park

The most talked-of place in America by out-of-doors people is Glacier National Park. It is located in North-western Montana, and has within its generous boundaries more of Nature's inspired masterpieces than any similar place in the world.

There are 60 living glaciers in the Park. Blackfoot Glacier alone covers over five square miles. These glaciers range from 250 to 500 feet in width and 100 to 200 feet in depth.

The icy waters of the Park's glacier-fed lakes and streams furnish the angler with any amount of sport. Trout, Flat, Bull and Lake trout.

The Park is a veritable garden, as over 80 varieties of wild flowers are found there, ranging from yellow wildflowers to the most gorgeous mountain lilies.

The quarters in the Park are delightful—you have your choice of hotels, chalets or tepee camps. If you "hike" it, you can get along on one dollar a day; other prices are in proportion.

Call at the office: we will talk it over, or if it is more convenient to send in your address on a postcard, we will write you, free of charge, booklets telling of the Park, its accommodations, and the cost of going there, on the BURLINGTON—the Daylight Route, and seeing all there is to see.

trial section. Word came from the Saco-Lowell shops that the enrollment from there would be 1500, or three times the number first spoken of. Furthermore, the big shops will display a novelty in the way of a float. A huge Zeppelin, 20 feet long or more, covered with red, white and blue bunting, with the proper passenger compartments, will be in the parade from the big shops, and in the airship there will be four young women as passengers and crew. The United States Cartridge Co. enrollment is reported to have reached 3000. The big munition plant will not be working that night until after midnight and the night workers have planned something distinctive for their section of 1000 marchers. They look a general collection the other night and sent down to a big store, where they purchased about all the red, white and blue ribbon there was. This they will make up into sashes so that each night worker of the cartridge shop will wear a sash. The big shops and the corps are reported to be attached to this big turnout. The Saco-Lowell people have a band also.

Call to Stenographers

Lowell will have a great Preparedness parade Wednesday evening, June 14th. We want to urge you stenographers to parade on this occasion with all other stenographers in the city of Lowell. It is the duty of every one of you girls, Americans with true American blood in your veins and feelings of pride and patriotism in your hearts for this wonderful country, to demonstrate to our general public of this city of ours your true feelings towards the same.

Show your real loyal spirits by sending in your names to join the ranks of the stenographers' unit this very day if you have not already done so.

All persons wishing to participate in this division of the parade call Miss Alice Cox, 338, 1261-M, or Miss Irene is Cox, 940, 4493, 8730.

A.O.H. Will Parade

A meeting of the five local divisions of the A.O.H. was held yesterday afternoon at A.O.H. hall and it was voted by all to participate in the preparedness parade next Wednesday evening. Daniel Cosgrove was elected marshal of the A.O.H. division and a drum corps has been engaged for the occasion. The men are requested to wear black derby hats and white gloves and all will carry American flags. The members of the various divisions will meet at Hibernian hall at 7 o'clock.

ALLEGED PLOTTER

Demurrer to Indictment Against Tauscher Overruled by Judge Wolverson

NEW YORK, June 12.—A demurrer to the indictment charging Hans Tauscher with engaging in a conspiracy to destroy the Welland canal in September, 1914, was overruled today by Judge Wolverson in the federal district court.

The demurrer asserted that a few men armed with pistols and having 600 pounds of dynamite as set forth in the indictment, was not a military enterprise within the meaning of the federal statute.

Besides Tauscher, Wolf von Tzel and others were named as defendants in the indictment.

WOMAN WRITER DEAD

JEAN WEBSTER, AUTHOR OF "DADDY LONG LEGS" PASSED AWAY IN NEW YORK

PRES. WILSON URGED TO APPOINT EX-PRESIDENT TAFT—EXPECTS TO NAME DEMOCRAT

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Selection of a successor to Charles E. Hughes on the supreme court bench already is being considered by President Wilson.

Although the supreme court adjourns today until October, department of justice officials are anxious that a new justice be appointed quickly, so that he can give consideration during the summer months to cases now pending.

It is understood that the president would like to appoint John W. Davis, solicitor-general, but may be deterred from doing so because Mr. Davis has prepared a number of cases now pending for the department of justice. Several messages urging the appointment of former President Taft have been received, but the president is expected to name a democrat, since the court now has five republicans and three democrats.

RUSSIANS ADVANCE
Continued

"In another sector, we captured 30,000 rifle cartridges, 300 boxes of machine gun cartridges, 200 boxes of hand-grenades, 1000 usable rifles, four machine guns, two range finders and a Norton portable pump for the extraction of drinking water.

"The capture of such enormous war materials prepared by the enemy for various operations affords proof of how opportune was our coup against the enemy.

"During yesterday's fighting we took as prisoners one general, 400 officers and 35,100 soldiers. We also captured 30 guns, 12 machine guns and five bomb throwers. This makes the total trophies in recent operations the general, 1649 officers and more than 108,000 soldiers, and 124 guns, 150 machine guns and 55 bomb throwers.

"Among the various episodes may be noted the plucky struggle of our young formations near Poltche, on the Svir near Lutsik. Here the Germans attempted to render assistance to the Austrians, but by our infantry attack, delivered under cover of heavy artillery, they were dislodged from the town, losing over 2000 prisoners, two guns and some machine guns. Our troops pursued the retreating Germans.

Capture of Dubno

"Our forces operating in the region of Dubno (one of the fortresses comprising the Volhynian triangle) captured the town and fort and are on the enemy's heels. Some Russian detachments, crossing the Ikwa river, have developed their offensive. A part of the Russians occupied the region of the village of Damlodoka, on the Mylnoff-Beresetchno road, forcing the enemy at his Mlynoff point of support to surrender. Besides dislodging the enemy from his principal position north of Bouchatche, we made many prisoners there, including the staff of an Austrian battalion and also took a great quantity of arms.

"We overthrew the enemy on the Striba. Near Ossowitze, north of Bouchatche, one of our regiments captured a complete battery of four 10-centimetre mortars.

"Despite the enemy's desperate resistance, his violent flank and curtain fire, together with the explosion of mines, General Techitsky's troops captured an enemy position south of Dobronovitz, 20 versts northeast of Czernowitz (Bukovina). In this region alone we took as prisoners one general, 347 officers and 18,000 men and captured 10 guns and at the time this report is despatched prisoners are still coming in.

"Southeast of Zale Szozyky, by an energetic coup, we overthrew the enemy, who retreated. The enemy blew up the Yourkowitz railway station. Turkoman cavalry charged the retreating enemy and turned his retreat into a disorderly rout.

Trying to Rally

"In attempts to save the situation, the enemy at many places made furious counter attacks. Among others at dawn Saturday in the region of Semki, east of Kolki, numerically superior enemy forces attacked our advanced elements, and under cover of a concentration of their fire forced them back over the Svir. But the same day we arrested all ulterior developments of this offense.

"The enemy is resisting with special desperation in the region of Torgovitsky, on the Svir south of Lutsik, where he is fighting with sanguinary fury.

"The total results of the violent attacks on our troops, carried out from the 4th to the 10th without giving the enemy a moment's respite, place in strong relief the fact that they have forced the enemy's organized lines on the vast front from the wooded region of southwest Russia to the Romanian frontier.

"Caucasus region: The Turks made repeated attacks on our positions in the Platana region, but were repulsed with heavy losses, abandoning in front of our trenches hundreds of dead. In the direction of Gumeslan we have occupied first line enemy trenches. In the direction of Diarbekir we are advancing and have made prisoners and captured boxes of ammunition."

ENGLAND FIGURES GERMANY'S
TOTAL LOSS AT 2021-586

LONDON, June 12.—Germany up to the end of May had lost 2,921,556 soldiers, of whom 734,412 were killed, according to a British official tabulation of the German casualty list given out here today. The compilation did not include German losses in naval engagements or in the fighting in the German colonies.

The British official statement quotes the German official casualty lists for the month of May as placing the total German losses in killed, prisoners and wounded at 192,567. This number, it is pointed out, brings the German total losses, exclusive of naval and colonial casualties, to 2,924,556.

The German figures in the May list as enumerated in the British account are as follows:

Dead, 22,471; wounded, 72,075; prisoners and missing, 7961; total, 192,567.

The German official lists of casualties up to the end of May give these totals:

Dead, 734,112; wounded, 1,755,652; prisoners and missing, 435,522; total, 2,924,556 both sides of the river Meuse, north of the French fortress of Verdun, according to the German official statement issued today. The Germans have added three cannon and seven machine guns to the heavy taken by them on the east bank of the river.

The text of the statement read:

"Western theatre: On both sides of the Meuse there was violent artillery fighting. The booty announced yesterday from the fighting on the east bank of the river was further increased by three cannon and seven machine guns.

"West of Mark Ick (15 miles north-west of Colmar) a German patrol penetrated the French trenches and took one officer and 17 men prisoners.

"Eastern theatre: South of Krevin, German reconnoitering detachments pushed forward into a Russian position. They destroyed the enemy works and brought back more than 100 Russians and one machine gun.

"Balkan theatre: There is nothing to report."

ITALIAN CABINET, HEADED BY PREMIER SALANDRA, RE-SIGNS OFFICE

LONDON, June 12.—The Italian cabinet, headed by Premier Salandra, resigned yesterday. This action of the ministry resulted from the failure of the Italian chamber of deputies yesterday to pass a vote of confidence in the government following the presentation of the budget of the ministry of the Interior.

A Rome despatch received here today by wireless telegraph said the ministerial crisis would soon be ended. All political parties, it was contended, favored a national ministry containing Baron Sonnino, the minister of foreign affairs, and the present military ministers.

EXPOSING OUR HAND

Rail as we will against the military of the great powers, we can learn a great deal from the manner in which they conduct their national affairs, and if a real test should come in which this country would be called upon to meet another great power in battle, we should be forced to adopt policies that may now seem unnecessary if not repugnant.

The present attitude of America is like that of an honest, candid boy in a council of astute politicians. Having no designs against any country on the map of the world, we assume too easily that no country has designs on us and our very leaders shun in congress, in the legislatures and from every platform of the land things that ought to be regarded as solemn government secrets. Sometimes in a bad cause, but just as often in a good cause, we say and publish things about the American army and navy and American government plans that give to nations across the water tips that they employ spies and an intricate system of espionage to discover from each other.

Let us learn a lesson from the sinking of the cruiser Hampshire with Kitchener and his staff on board. Despite all explanations, the general impression is that it was due to the clever work of German spies who gave the information to their government. In this connection there was a rumor—never denied officially—that Kitchener was a passenger on the Sussex when it was torpedoed by a German commander. Suppose, for illustration of the point, that we were in a war with Germany, and that our troops and leading men were going on diplomatic or military missions. Unless a radical change shall come over the country some well-meaning American public officials and sensational newspapers would do the work that has been done by Germany by her system of spies. Somebody has said that a subscription to the Congressional Record would do more for a nation fighting the United States than the most elaborate system of espionage, and there is truth in the ironical statement.

Democracy is glorious, but it has its perils. There is not an American soldier or sailor who cannot give private information about the faults of the service. Every man who is out for votes sets himself up as a diplomat of a government expert. Our forts and our navy yards are open to inspection almost without restriction and it is but recently that we have learned to guard our munition plants. It must be the heartfelt hope of all true Americans that our dangers may never prove anything but imaginary, but it is well to shut our eyes and refuse to face the truth? Nobody accuses those who endanger America's future of malice or lack of patriotism, but it is only too evident that we have not the cunning which so many other great powers are demonstrating today.

FRESH FROM THE FARM

To the complaint that the farmers of Massachusetts are not making the most of their opportunities the answer is repeatedly made that they cannot find markets near home. Whether through lack of patronage, or inadequate transportation or the more efficient methods of distant firms, they usually find some markets closed to them. Consequently the people of this state are compelled to purchase products raised in other sections of the country while our Massachusetts farmers look for an outlet for their goods elsewhere.

Those who have argued for a public market have proposed one way to meet the contingency, but it fails to awaken enthusiasm. Officially neglected in this city, the public is wholly indifferent, and from all indications it looks as though the establishment of a public market would be followed by just the same degree of indifference.

There are indications that the promotion of agriculture will soon be one of the main movements in this part of the country, backed by state and national aid. The people are showing more interest than formerly as reflected in the increased attendance at fairs, etc., and if the present disinclination and protests against the high cost of living are taken advantage of, much good may be accomplished.

In the neighboring city of Nashua, N. H., a promoter of agricultural exhibits has leased the extensive fair grounds for five years, feeling that the people of southern New Hampshire are interested in their farms and will patronize farm exhibits. It is a healthy sign and it would be well if the people of Lowell took a like interest in the farm problems of the neighboring towns. It was the hope of the government that the parcel post would be the means of supplying those in cities with products fresh from the farm, and while it has not succeeded in doing so to the fullest extent, there is a growing desire that the problems of the farmer be studied and so far as possible solved by the government and by the American people.

RUSSIAN SUCCESSES

The smallest move along the western front is given a great deal of prominence in the press despatches while far greater events in the east go almost unnoticed. Ever since last fall the allies have hinted at a great Russian offensive in the spring and it seems to be now going on, with disastrous results for Austria. For the past few months it is said that the Russians have recaptured 6000 square miles from the Austrians and have taken over 100,000 prisoners among whom are many Germans. Lutz is again in Russian hands, Lemberg is threatened and if this drive keeps up, the Russian armies will once again be on Austrian territory. While it may be said that the war has now swung backward and forward over this region many times, it must be admitted that the Russians are now in a far better position than the Austrians. Germany is forced to keep well to the west at Verdun and elsewhere, while the forces of the czar have been reorganized and supplied with arms and ammunition. In all probability should the Russian offensive go on, Germany will reinforce her ally as before, but with the central powers men are becoming more scarce and if the war can drag on for many more months, the uncanny power of Russia to recuperate will have a great part in shaping the ultimate result.

SPOILING NIAGARA

Of all the attacks made on the volume of waters at Niagara—and they have been legion—the most novel is that suggested in the Engineering Record. It is gravely proposed that the volume of water be stopped at night when the view is less attractive to visitors and diverted to power development, and that the falls be turned on again as a show thing in the morning. This might easily be done, it is stated, by the construction of a dam above the falls. The expert who makes the proposal says explicitly that it would not affect the present power houses and he waxes eloquent on the possibilities— even from a scenic point of view. He thinks that the turning on of the falls in the morning would attract many visitors. Perish the thought! If such a fate should befall our greatest wonder, we could never again controvert the claim that America is a heartless and commercial nation. Needless to say, if the dire proposition were put into effect it would be but a short time before the turning on of the falls daily would be abandoned as an economic waste. It will be well for the American reputation that the American people should become very touchy with regard to Niagara and should resent the slightest whisper that would menace its everlasting beauty.

THE STEAM ROLLER

One of the grim jokes of the Chicago conventions was the apparent lack of a steam roller in the ranks of the republicans and its all too obvious presence among the progressives. Yet, in 1912, the progressives quoted their hatred of the steam roller as one of the main reasons for their separate existence. The events of the past week have shown that the republicans can now be banded over in hatches by the bosses of old, while one man holds the progressive party under his whip and urges them hither or thither as it suits his fancy. The New York Sun comments upon the change in the following pungent sentences: "Never in the variegated history of the various political parties has there been an organization so supinely submissive to the will of one man as the progressives of 1916. Their steam roller is a juggernaut beneath which the Bull Moosemen throw themselves with a fanatical ardor that would be sublime if it were not so supremely illogical." It is as true as it is terse, and it is an unintentional tribute to the personal power of Theodore Roosevelt. And a true picture of the faculty of his followers.

SEN. LODGE'S INCONSISTENCY

One can easily see why Senator Lodge has not been proposed seriously at any time as a presidential candidate. Nobody questions his ability; but he lacks the consistency and the devotion to principle that gives a man political strength. Take his action at the Chicago convention for example. He made a nominating speech for Weeks that was really electrifying in its eloquence. Then on the second ballot for a candidate, he broke to Roosevelt, the man who smashed the party four years ago. That showed the inconsistency of his speech for Weeks and his opposition to Hughes, for Roosevelt was openly opposed to Hughes. But when Hughes was nominated Lodge tried to catch on to the band wagon by seconding the motion to make the nomination unanimous. A public man who shows such a lack of fixed principle or devotion can never command public confidence where character is the criterion. Lodge has demonstrated by his acts that he is a trimmer.

One can well imagine that when William Howard Taft heard the result of the action at Chicago, he smiled knowingly—and there is no bitterness in either his smile or his frown. The prolonged cheers for him were not wholly complimentary to Roosevelt, but then Roosevelt was cheered and toasted by his own special admirers until human endurance gave out, so he may not have grudged six minutes to his generous opponent of 1912. Taft is not a wrecker, he has never adopted the rule or ruin policy of Roosevelt.

SEEN AND HEARD

It seems almost that the best advice of all is "Don't get excited!"

Thought Excitement

"A man is as big as the terms in which he ordinarily thinks," remarked the wise citizen. "This is dreadful!" exclaimed Miss Cayenne. "My father is a scientist and is accustomed to getting his ideas with a microscope."—Washington Star.

Mandy, the Undisturbed

Solitude does not make for eloquence. "Mandy," said Bill Titter, the ultimate denizen of Bitter creek, "where's my razor?" "I need a shave," he replied, then he looked at the arch enemy of Bill Titter, a bad citizen from across the range. A nine-inch bowie flashed in his hand, Bill clinched with like and the mountain cabin trembled to their struggle. The table was demolished, the stove overturned, the malicious water bucket was overturned. Finally Bill secured his knife. As he pushed the dying like from its blade— "Behind the clock," said Mandy. "You sure do"—Judge.

"No Trespassing"

Two men whom we know have summer places side by side. Both estates are closed during the winter months and unoccupied except for the occasional visits of a decrepit caretaker. Both are near the road and easy of access.

The first owner has posted his estate with large signs headed "No Trespassing," threatening to visit the rigors of the law on those who disobey. The second owner has printed over his signature this modest notice: "This house and the grounds about are a home. Visitors are invited to regard themselves as the guests of the owner and to enjoy themselves in any way that does not destroy the flowers and shrubs, nor endanger the woods by fire."

Which estate, do you think, shows the less damage when the owner returns to it in the spring?—Woman's Home Companion.

Approval

I want to say to the Feller that made this dingy old world I love it! I couldn't make it half as good, nor could I stretch the stars above it. One-tenth as smooth, and if I had a tree for to make this morning! (I reckon my tree could sort of die before we got to it.) And as for all the other things, they're part of the same dingy story! I couldn't make a cabbage, or have made a better world than this. If I'd spend my life a-tryin', after all of the work I'd go to, I couldn't make an onion—nor sayin' that I couldn't make a better world. But just that it can't be did, exceptin' by the designer.

An onion's a wonderful thing, more so than an ocean-liner!

And so I can't and no fault, in the skies or the earth beneath 'em. Nor the bloom that the children pick to make into chains and wreaths.

About their old daddy's neck. What ever He's made 'em! The earth and the restless sea, the clouds that are white above it. The whistles of trees at night, when the winds are stirred and the leaves. The cool of the winds at dawn and the sound of the battle lovin'. The laughter of creeks that run, and the honking of geese that fly. The flowers that dip and nod and send me their sweet perfume!

I don't reckon the Master cares if I like it. I do. I do. I could stay in this world forever!

—Judd M. Lewis in the Houston Post.

Quite Unnecessary

An American stopping at a London hotel rang several times for attendance, but no one answered. He started to the office in an angry mood, which was not improved when he found that the "lift" was not running. Descending two flights of stairs, he met one of the chambermaids. "What's the matter with this dashed hotel?" he growled. "No one to answer your call and no elevator running."

"Well, you see, sir," said the maid, "the Zeps were reported, and we were all ordered to the cellar for safety."

"What's the matter with the American?" was on the fifth floor and I wasn't warned.

"No, sir," was the bland reply, "but you see, sir, you can't come under the employer's liability act, sir."—Boston Transcript.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH THEATRE

She's the most fascinating creature in moving pictures today, is Miss Billie Burke, who will appear in the third chapter of "Gloria's Romance," at the B. F. Keith theatre twice today, tomorrow and Wednesday. Billie has them all beaten when it comes to producing real charm. Either in a Callot ball gown or in a simple, short, skirt, she is equally attractive. The third chapter of this engrossing serial is entitled "A Perilous Love," and it shows the delightful "Gloria" being rapidly ensnared by the scheming "Dr. Renard." "Gloria" doesn't quite lose herself, however, for "Royce" appears on the scene just in the nick of time to save her. This Kieft feature is one of the picture hits of the town.

The lights and shades of society life are artistically presented in the Triangle-Kay Bee five-act picture, "Honor's Altar," which will also be a feature of the first half of the week. Basile Barricade will be presented in the evening with her there will be associated Lewis S. Stone and Walter Edwards. A captain of industry, having risen in the world, feels that his wife is no longer the stamp to enable him to properly fit about in high society. He feels that he should have a more attractive companion. He does his best to have her leave him, without having strength of character enough to state his reasons. Finally, the captain of industry makes a man who says he has lost all sense of honor, and he will gain the love of his wife. The man who is without honor starts out to do it, but discovers the rudiments of a conscience and refrains from hemming her. The story is a real one, and the Barricade has the role of the unexpecting wife, who accepts without question the man without honor as the friend of her husband. This is a powerful play, with many new things brought to the stage, but the comedy feature will be the Triangle-Kay Bee in two acts, "His Auto Ruination," with little Mack Swain in the big part. This is a screamingly funny comedy.

The long line picture of the last half of the week will be "The Flying Torpedo," the story of which was written by John Emerson, who will play the principal character in it. The story tells how an eccentric detective story writer foiled the enemies of this country and made possible the use of a novel means of defense which saved the nation. The flying torpedo is the means selected to defeat the enemy.

THE VALUE OF A CLEAN SKIN IN MAINTAINING HEALTH.

Snakes throw off their outer skin once a year. Human beings change their skin perhaps nine times in a year; that is, they have a new skin about once in six weeks.

The value of a clean skin in maintaining health is not properly understood by the majority of people. Cleanliness is a part of health. You cannot be healthy unless you are clean not only externally, but also internally.

The blood should also be thrived occasionally, like the skin, in throwing off poisons so that the system may not get clogged and leave a weak spot for disease germs to enter the system. When the blood is clogged we suffer from what is commonly called a cold.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery purifies the blood and entirely eradicates the poisons that breed and feed disease. It thus eradicates eczema, boils, pimples and other eruptions that mar and sear the skin. Pure blood is essential to good health. The weak, run-down, debilitated condition which so many people experience is commonly the effect of impure blood. New Orleans, La.—"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough, for I know my daughter never would have been so well if she had not taken it. For more than a year she had suffered agonies from irregularities, backache, dizziness, and no appetite, but is now well. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all mothers and daughters, and you can publish this letter."—Mrs. A. ESTRADA, 129 N. Galvez Street, New Orleans, La.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"My daughter was feeling tired and all run down with no apparent cause. She had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before and knew its value so she again purchased it and she was able to keep to work, her eyes became bright and natural, and her system was built up completely. We generally keep the Vegetable Compound in the house for it is so reliable on."—Mrs. E. J. PURDY, 5131 Race Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Women Have Been Telling Women for forty years how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored their health when suffering with female ills. Try it if you are troubled with any ailment peculiar to women.

An actual invasion takes place however, in the world of scientific inventors to prevent it. At the last minute the aerial torpedoes are manufactured, and they produce a defeat for the invading army. Emerson plays the part of the story writer with a splendid appreciation of comedy, although "The picture is not primarily one to cause laughter."

A Charlie Chaplin exclusive comedy, "Police," will furnish lots of fun the last three days of the week. This is the comedy which Charlie Chaplin says is the best thing he ever did. And he ought to know. Everywhere it has been received with oodles of applause and laughter. The Hearst-Vitaphone will show the very latest news of the world. It is without question, superior to any news film now being put on the screen.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

How an American suddenly elevated to a throne conducted his affairs of state is set forth in the five act feature photoplay, "A Son of the Immortals," at the Merrimack Square theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday with J. Warren Kerrigan interpreting the role of the monarch, unexpectedly thrust into control of a nation. The incident is told in a thrilling and dramatic fashion, and the play is a powerful production. "The Evil Thereof," a powerful morality drama starting the celebrated "Evil Thereof" picture, founded on the story of the hard-fisted broker, "The Evil Thereof" is a strong dramatic indictment against the mad love of money and the evils that result from it, so characteristic of American life today. Through the instructive story of a play, but real life, Marie, the actress, presents a drama of folly and repentance, replete with stirring action and sympathetic episodes.

Another picture to be seen at this popular motion picture theatre during the last half of the week is the latest Sis Hopkins comedy in which the original Sis is funnier than ever before. The Pathe News will also present the latest events of world wide interest and other pictures of merit will also be shown.

OWL THEATRE

The hundreds of Owl theatre patrons of this city will no doubt receive with joy the news that Mme. Petrova, the famous emotional actress, whose wonderful work in "What Will People Say," "The Soul Market" and other striking productions, has so well received by the local movie fans, returns to that theatre on today and tomorrow, when she will be seen in the stellar role of another five act Metro wonderplay. This photoplay, "The Scarlet Woman," is a play which contains a dramatic power and startling situations each of those tremendously popular plays in which this star has appeared, and to see it is to see Mme. Petrova in a role which will be a revelation even to her most ardent admirers.

The story of this photoplay deals with a noble-hearted woman who after saving her husband when he is in the shadow of the gallows, is sometime later cast off by him. How all the men of her world become infatuated with her beauty; how she preys on all whom she meets; how a disreputable attorney, who has caused her ruin, later is in turn disgraced through information which she gives to the leader of the reform party; how this man later believing her to be pure and as good as the angels, marries her; and the tragedy of the day after a misunderstanding which leads both into the deep abyss of bitterness and of the true love which brings them together and to happiness at last. All form a story of supreme appeal which gives the wonderful Mme. Petrova many chances to display marvelous powers of pantomime and emotional expression.

An excellent comedy and other high-class photoplays will also be presented at the Owl theatre today and tomorrow.

ROYAL THEATRE

Beautiful Kathryn Williams, of untold charms of face and figure, assisted by Guy Oliver, as the modern cave-man, and Harry Tondale, as the rich lover, is the combination offered in the latest Solie-Vile offering "Into the Primitive," which will be shown at the Royal theatre today and tomorrow. It is a story of jungle life written especially by Robert Ames

Bennett, and was produced in five stirring reels. Miss Williams plays the part of an American heiress, who is cast ashore on a desert island. On the raft is her lover and a civil engineer, whose rough manners are at first odious to her. Later he defends her from her cowardly lover, hunger-maddened jungle beasts and from herself, and she discovers the strength, kindness and resourcefulness and the honest love of the cave man. Her society lover proves a weakling and a coward, much to her disappointment and her disgust. A lovely romance, with plenty of adventures and remarkable realism. Other fine attractions these two days, "The Salamander" on Wednesday and Thursday, and the special attraction in five parts.

ANOTHER BANDIT RAID

TWO COWBOYS CARRIED ACROSS BORDER, BUT ESCAPE—83 HORSES TAKEN

LAREDO, Tex., June 12.—Fifteen Mexican bandits early yesterday attacked four employees on the T. A. Coleman ranch at Sam Samuel, drove them to the brush and escaped across the Rio Grande with eighty-three horses.

The same party of Mexicans, it is reported, attacked the Johnson and Coleman ranch in the same vicinity, last night.

American soldiers were sent in motor trucks to follow the trail of the bandits.

An unverified report last night was that the horses had been recovered, but whether any fighting had taken place was not known.

Two American cowboys, George Conover and Arthur Myers, were captured and carried off, but were released and reached Palacios, Texas, 50 miles from Laredo, late yesterday.

Luis de la Rosa, notorious bandit leader, is said to have been with the party which raided the Johnson and Coleman ranch. The Mexicans had rounded up a bunch of horses when they were discovered by Conover and Myers and a Mexican employee of the ranch, who stampeded the animals. Conover and Myers were taken across the international boundary, according to reports, but escaped.

George A. Alexander, foreman of the T. A. Coleman ranch, with three men, left the ranch at daybreak yesterday, taking the horses to a pasture at Webb, Tex. At 7:30 o'clock, when 12 miles from the Rio Grande, they were attacked from the rear by Mexicans, who evidently had been following them. The Mexican ride fire was too much for the raphers and they were compelled to take to the brush, abandoning the horses, which the bandits drove off.

Alexander rode to Minera and reported the incident to army officers here by telephone. Arrangements for the pursuit immediately were begun.

HONOR TO DEAD SAILORS

WOMEN'S RELIEF CORPS HELD SERVICES AT TYNGSBORO UNITARIAN CHURCH

Under the auspices of the Women's Relief Corps of James A. Garfield post, 120, G.A.R., impressive services in honor of the sailor dead were held yesterday at the Unitarian church, Tyngsboro, and at the bridge which spans the Merrimack river at that point. Besides members of the relief corps there were present representatives of Gen. B. F. Butler and Ladd and Whitney Post, G. A. R., and their families, and a large number of veterans and their families; the Ladies of the G.A.R.; Sons of Veterans; and Daughters of Veterans and other patriotic organizations.

The services were held in the church which was filled to its capacity. The program was simple and impressive. The service was opened by Mrs. Frank Flanders, president of the James A. Garfield Relief Corps, who turned the program over to Mrs. Lestina A. Parker, patriotic instructor of the corps. The ritual of the relief corps was read, followed by "Near, My God, to Thee," sung by the congregation. There came a prayer by the pastor of the church, after which there was a salute to the flag by the congregation, with Dr. Boy Scouts as color bearers. "O God of Love, O King of Peace" was beautifully sung by a boys' chorus from St. Anne's church, under the direction of Chorister Alex. Williams. Then came the principal address of the day by Capt. William P. White of the United States navy, retired. "Onward, Christian Soldiers" was sung by the congregation, with all its stirring and martial appeal, and a brief address by Commander Hunt of Post 120 followed the hymn. "Hunt of the Good Fight" was rendered by the boys of St. Anne's, and after the benediction by the pastor, the boys' choir sang "Peace, Perfect Peace."

During the service beautiful orchestral music was rendered by members of the Dracut troop of Boy Scouts, George Stevens, scoutmaster.

Following the services at the church, those present marched to the Tyngsboro bridge where floral offerings were cast into the water of the Merrimack according to the annual custom.

The police of Lowell and neighboring cities and towns have been asked to be on the lookout for a Lawrence suspect whom the police of that city believe is in connection with the murder of Kost Bonaduruk, a mill worker killed during a boarding house quarrel in Lawrence yesterday. The man met his death from a revolver bullet, and the police acting on information given by Mrs. Mary Goralick, a confidante of the boarding house, looking a young boarder who was present but who disappeared after the shooting. A description of the man has been given the local authorities.

TWO ALARMS SOUNDED

CHASE PAPER PLANT ON HOWE STREET DAMAGED $8,000 YESTERDAY

Fire broke out in the paper plant of the T. E. Chase & Son Co. in Howe street shortly before four o'clock yesterday afternoon and before it could be placed under control the building was damaged to the extent of $8,000. Owing to the fact that the building is in a congested district and that the blaze had made great headway before being discovered, Chief Saunders sent in a second alarm shortly after he arrived on the scene. It is thought that the fire was caused by several boys who were seen in the vicinity of the building shortly before the blaze was discovered.

The blaze was spectacular as well as destructive and huge volumes of black smoke poured from the building into the streets and made the work of the fire fighters quite difficult. The latter worked hard and in less than an hour the fire was under control.

The building in which the fire broke out is a two-story wooden structure 100 by 65 feet, fronting on Howe street. There is a three-story wing in the rear in which was stored a large supply of baled paper. The damage to the company is about $5000, their loss being confined to the machinery and paper on hand. The loss to John A. Simpson, the owner of the building, is about $3000. Both building and contents were covered by insurance.

People living in the vicinity of Fayette street informed the police that just before the outbreak of the fire two youngsters were seen jumping from a window of the building. The volume of smoke increased in their density and flames burst through the roof. Realizing the imminent danger to adjacent property Chief Saunders ordered a second alarm sounded. The firemen had to tear out a big hole in the rear side of the building in order to get at the flames in the interior.

E. BOSTON MEN FINED

Seven Young Men Caused Disturbance at Billerica—A Shop Lifter Sentenced—Other Cases

Seven young men who claim East Boston as their residence were arrested in Billerica about 12:15 o'clock yesterday morning and sent to the Lowell police station where they were booked on complaints charging them with disturbing the peace.

For several years past the occupants of camps on the banks of the Concord river have been disturbed, especially on Saturday nights by young men, who after imbibing more freely than wisely in the flowing bowl frequent the vicinity and annoy the people by their vile language, loud talking and fighting.

The matter has been reported to the police of Billerica on several occasions and Constables Livingston and O'Brien made up their minds that they were going to rid the town of any rowdies.

Saturday night Frederick B. Benson, Timothy Barry, James Smith, Walter Carroll, Richard P. O'Brien, Martin Conley and Walter N. Keene, of East Boston, visited a camp in Billerica. Two of the young men are members of the camp but it is understood that the actions of some of the visitors were such that they were ordered out of the place and later they started to raise a disturbance in the street.

When arraigned before Judge Enright in police court this morning each entered a plea of guilty. Judge Enright said he had received so many complaints from campers in Billerica that he had decided that an example should be made of people who annoy peaceful residents of the town. He accordingly found each guilty and imposed a fine of $10, stating that if any of the offenders were brought before the court in the future they would receive a direct sentence.

Present at a Game
Alexander Yakeboski, Michael Sevitki and John Wolksi were arrested early yesterday morning on a warrant charging them with being present at a game on the Lord's day. They admitted their guilt and each was ordered to pay a fine of $5.

Ordered to Leave Town
George W. Sweeney who was charged with drunkenness and the carrying of two pipes belonging to some person unknown to the police and a piece of champagne from Woolworth's Five & Ten Cent store, had a narrow escape from being sent to the house of correction after having been found

PROPOSALS FOR COKE

All bids must be upon blank forms to be obtained at the office of the Commissioners, Court House, East Cambridge, and must give the prices proposed both in writing and in figures and be signed by the bidder with his address.

Each bid is to be accompanied by a certified check for one hundred dollars ($100.00) payable to the County of Middlesex, said check to be returned to the bidder unless he fails to execute a contract should it be awarded to him.

A bond may be required for the faithful performance of the contract in such sums as shall be fixed by said Commissioners after the bids are opened; said sum to be not less than one-fourth nor more than one-half of the amount of the contract.

All bids will be compared on the basis of the estimated quantity of coke needed which is as follows: 700 tons, more or less, of coke satisfactory to the Commissioners.

The above to be delivered at the Lowell Court House at such time and in such quantities as the Custodian may order. The quantity is approximate only and the Commissioners expressly reserve the right of increasing or diminishing the same.

Forms of proposal may be obtained at the office of the Commissioners, Court House, East Cambridge.

The Commissioners reserve the right to reject any or all bids or accept any bid as they may deem best.

guilty of both drunkenness and larceny. The court, however, felt that Sweeney is an undesirable in Lowell and that if he will keep out of the city the community will be better off.

Court Officer Philip Doyle said that he was called to a local store Saturday afternoon on complaint of the floorwalker of the establishment who had seen Sweeney snatch a mesh bag from a girl. When searched the mesh bag was not found, but the two pipes and piece of champagne were brought to light.

Deputy Downey informed the court that the defendant had served time for breaking and entering and also for picking pockets. Sweeney was sentenced to six months in the house of correction, but that sentence was suspended on condition that he leave town within 24 hours.

Disturbing the Peace
Thomas Lorry and Frank Loughlin got into an argument and then decided they would go into the street to have it out with their fists. The result was that both men were arrested and each was ordered to pay a fine of $5.

Designated as a Hobo
"That man is nothing more or less than a hobo," said Deputy Downey, when Daniel Brady was asked to plead to a complaint charging him with drunkenness. He was given a sentence of six months in the house of correction, but that sentence was suspended on condition that he immediately shake the dust of Lowell from his shoes.

Neglected His Wife
Charles H. Odell was charged with being drunk, but after the court heard the testimony in the case he advised Odell's wife to prefer a charge of neglect against him and subsequently pleaded guilty to neglecting his wife and was sentenced to the house of correction for four months.

Rated a Disturbance
Arthur Murray and Edward Gargan for making trouble in a local restaurant Sunday morning were fined $15 and $10 respectively.

Initiator of George
George Ade, who has written many slang books, had nothing on James F. Walsh when he started to explain to the court this morning that he was not drunk when arrested Saturday night, he claiming that a friend of his pulled one over on him and stalled him. He failed to convince the court, however, that he was not drunk and after he had been sentenced to one month in jail he remarked: "If I'd have pleaded guilty I might have got off with a $2 fine."

HUGHES IN NEW YORK

alliance had decided to get together to work in New York state for the election of the candidate, probably under the name of the Hughes non-partisan league. The organization, he said, would establish headquarters here and co-operate with the regular republican organization.

Soon after Mr. Hughes had reached the hotel where he at once retired to his room, men prominent in republican politics began to gather.

Mr. Hughes received newspapermen in the course of the forenoon, but declined to discuss his plans. He was asked how it felt "to be drafted for the biggest job in the world."

"I can only say," he replied, "there are certain circumstances under which a matter of duty is supremely clear and leaves no ground for hesitancy. There was no question in this situation as to what I should do. I did it, and in my announcement to the people I endeavored to make my attitude clear."

"I came here to hold consultations in regard to arrangements to the future. I can say nothing in respect to the details at this time."

Mr. Hughes then posed, smilingly, for moving picture and camera men. Mr. Hughes was at Brown university, a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity and has long been active in its affairs. Among those who visited him today were four fellow members of a committee of five in that fraternity who for years traveled about the country together establishing new chapters in various colleges. One of them were Edward M. Bassett of Brooklyn, former democratic congressman and who was active in the campaign for the election of President Wilson.

Mr. Hughes spent the forenoon in receiving callers.

Shortly before 11 o'clock, George W. Wickersham, formerly attorney general, appeared and was immediately ushered into Mr. Hughes' rooms where he went into conference with the candidate. Mr. Wickersham declined to state the object of his visit or to discuss rumors that he was acting as a mediator in plans to obtain progressive support for the republican candidate. He reiterated his denial that he had been lately in consultation with Col. Roosevelt.

SOME RAINY DAY GOSSIP

Wet Weather Discourages Base Ball—New Talk of Reducing Circuit—History of "Dog Gone Run"

Just as if the financial burden upon a club manager in a ten-club league with a $100 guarantee to visiting clubs and long jumps, between some of the cities wasn't sufficient under the most favorable circumstances, to make him pay for a large gate to permit him to quit even, along comes a rainy season, that not only takes away any chance of a big gate, but necessitates a dead loss of $100 daily, for every day that he is scheduled to play at home, with salaries going on as unrelenting as time and tide.

It is a lucky club manager who will finish the season this year with money to the good. The best of them are living in hope, and it is believed, as far as Lowell is concerned, that once the weather gets back to its normal condition, and the Lowell team braces up, or is braced up by a disgusted management, the crowds will assist regularly at the Spalding park for the remainder of the season. To assist Owners Roach and Connor to get back some of the long green that thus far they have gamely paid out on "dead horse."

When the Eastern league started its season there was some criticism of the ten-club league proposition, many believing that anything over eight clubs in a league is dangerous. This dose of weather, with the long jumps and the $100 guarantee, may have the effect of turning the Eastern league into an eight-club circuit next year, though much depends on just how the season concludes.

Two weeks ago many wanted to see New London eliminated by reason of the fact that they believed New London to be too strong for the remainder of the league, and that their top-heaviness would result in a lack of interest on the part of the fans. At that time the writer suggested that Springfield might be depended upon to hold its own with New London, and now it would seem that Long Louis Peeper's outfit isn't afraid to go against the Planters and make them put forth their best effort. Perhaps when the other teams get going right, New London while the best team in the league in reputation, will not be an everyday winner after all. In making a comparison between New London and Lowell, as Lowell is going at the present time, one is justified in answering the statement that New London is too strong for the league, with the contention that Lowell as it has been performing for the past couple of weeks, is too weak for the league. The local boys have not been there, either with "per" or performance. Manager Lord's words, "the horse-gate," and maybe the situation is similar to that which existed when Cuke Barrows was boss. Things broke badly when Barrows was at the helm, but once he relinquished control, conditions improved wonderfully, and Barrows himself started to get going. Perhaps if Lord were not manager he, too, might do better than he has been doing. Many thought that Lord would be able to connect with a number of first class players, but the only man he has produced is Tom Devore, and even he, Tom's name hasn't been suggested for the Hall of Fame, though he looks good.

Question of Circuits
But getting back to the ten-club proposition, and the discussed move to reduce the circuit to eight clubs, the rub would come in deciding upon which two to eliminate. The longest jumps are to Portland on the north and Bridgeport on the south, but Portland and Bridgeport are a couple of first class clubs. Lowell and Bridgeport has the additional financial advantage of Sunday games. New London is a poor paying town, but it has the best team and the strongest financial backing, while its location is in its favor as lying close to Hartford and New Haven.

It isn't by any means a fact, that all leagues with more than eight clubs go to smash, for if one goes back quarter of a century or thereabouts, he will recall the success of the national league with a 12-club circuit. In 1890 the Brotherhood broke away from the national league, and started an eight-club league of its own, known as the Players' league. The result: both leagues went bad and nobody made any money. The two leagues arranged conflicting dates and the fans becoming disgusted, remained away from both. The Brotherhood opened in Boston with an attendance of 19,000, playing on the Congress street grounds, while the Nationals at the old South End grounds, mustered in less than 5000. At the end of the season the Players' league bought the Cincinnati and Pittsburgh teams and left the National league with but six clubs. But during the winter the rival clubs in New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago were consolidated and the Players' league went down and out. In 1891 the American association came into the line, fighting as a rival of the National league, doing just what the Federal league did a few years ago. It went back on the National agreement, and by booting the salaries of the stars stole away a number of the best men in the National league. In 1892 the National league put the American association out of business by taking in four of its teams and starting a 12-club league consisting of Boston, New York, Chicago, Brooklyn, Pittsburgh, Louisville, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Philadelphia, Washington, St. Louis and Baltimore, and this combination went along and made money for a number of seasons. So there's hope for a ten-club league, even among the minors, but it must have a fair shake on the weather, while the majors must give the fans a fair shake in regard to producing the goods.

"Get that Dog-gone Run!"

While out at Spalding Park recently, I heard one of the coaches, I don't recall which one, repeatedly use the expression: "Bring in that dog-gone run!" I wondered if he were aware of the fact that baseball history has recorded such a thing as a "dog-gone run." Boston was the scene of the only "dog-gone run" on record, and old "Pop" Anson of Chicago, one of the greatest ball players of all times, tells about it as follows: "I remember one queer incident that occurred during that season (1892), and while we were playing in Boston, Henry E. Dixey, the catcher, who was then playing the summer engagement at the 'Hub,' had driven out to the ground as usual, in his buckboard, with his pet bull-terrier, 'Dago,' in the seat beside him. Dixey always retained his seat in his rig and took up his place right back of the left field. Dixey had been on the ground more than 20 minutes when Dahlen swiped the ball for a three-bagger. It was one of those long, low, hard drives, and sailed about ten feet over the left-fielder's head and in a direct line for Dixey. He couldn't get out of the way, but he didn't see it coming and the first he knew of it was when he heard a sharp yelp at his side, and saw poor 'Dago' tumbling off his seat between the wheels. The dog was dead, and he picked up the ball having broken his neck. Between the yellow buck-board, the dead canine, the frightened horses and Dixey's excitement, the whole affair was in an uproar and it was fully ten minutes before we could get down to playing again, but the fact was, after it was all over, even the affair, and scored on the death of 'Dago,' his being the only genuine case of making a dog-gone run that has ever come under my observation."

In years gone by, at the South End grounds, in Boston, and in fact many of the other big cities, carriages were permitted in the deep-outfield entering by what was known as the "horse-gate," which opened into the outer field. When a pitcher wasn't down to work he was generally placed in charge of the "horse-gate," and these were the good old days, on that "horse-gate." It was a case of every day was "palm Sunday" for the pitcher who had the job, and who was on to his.

Tip to Lowell Team

The South End Social club is to appear in the Preparedness parade next Wednesday evening, headed by its baseball team in uniform. Why not the Lowell team? They'll get back from Lynn in time to appear in the parade. With Sergeant Dan Finnerty, U.S.A., retired, to lead them, the boys would have the unique distinction of being commanded by a genuine soldier boy, for Sgt. Finnerty has seen service from the wilds of Alaska, where the natives are clothed in bearskin, to the Philippines where most of them run around in bare skin. Sgt. Finnerty having also seen service with the Indians of the west, is eminently fitted to lead the Lowell team.

IS ALECK LOSING GRIP?

Is Grover Cleveland Alexander losing his effectiveness? In the last three series the Phillies have played Aleck has received sundry bumps in attempting to subdue the enemy, and this has had a depressing effect on the remainder of the team.

The Robins landed Alexander from the mound in one of the games in the recent series between the teams in the Quaker City, and the Giants also drove Moran's marvel from the hill in the afternoon game on Decoration day. On Saturday Aleck managed to beat the Cardinals, but he gave them nine hits, the part of Stock, Whitely, Niehoff and Pickett that enabled him to pull out a victory.

PIRATES LOOK GOOD
MANAGER CALLAHAN SAYS ALL WESTERN CLUBS OF BOTH LEAGUES WILL ALSO IMPROVE

NEW YORK, June 12.—Manager Jimmy Callahan of the Pirates is not ready to concede superiority on the part of the Eastern clubs of the National league.

"The west will take care of itself, never fear," said James J. "not only in the inter-club but in San Johnson's league as well."

"I admit that the west looked rather soft in comparison to the east in the first inter-club games," said the manager. "But I haven't seen the east walking over the west in spite of the advantages of home support on our visit to this section. A great deal was made over the successes of eastern clubs in the west, as it was generally believed that you fellows had all the worse of the early spring weather. Now as a matter of fact we western clubs were inconvenienced far more than you of the east this spring. We played more of our early games. But we played them in weather that was a crime against baseball. And so I say we suffered the more on that very account."

"Take it from me," Callahan concluded, "this will be no one time race. Any club that feels discouraged need look only at the fine road trip of the Giants to renew its faith. The race is so close now that even a moderate run of victories could put the tail end aggregation right in the thick of the fight. Pittsburgh will have to take a lot more beating than it has seen so far for me to lose faith in the possibilities of my club. No team has played better ball than we the past couple of weeks. It is only a question of time before we will be up with the Giants and Dodgers."

GREAT SWIMMER

"Duke" Says McGillivray is "There" in the Water

"Duke" Kahanamoku is the swiftest swimmer and slowest talker in the world. The "Duke" has swum a hundred yards in 53 1-5 seconds and no one else has done it quite so quickly. As a conversationalist he probably also holds the world's record time for the fewest words uttered in an hour, but unfortunately no official records regarding this unique feat have been kept.

The "Duke" has just arrived in San Francisco from a tour of the country that enabled him to compete in all the national swimming championships. He won the 50 yards at Chicago, covering the distance in 23 1-5 seconds, a fifth slower than the record which he holds. All the "Duke" had to say was: "Pretty good race, McGillivray kept close swimmer, too. I won by a touch." The time, it may be said, was a record for an indoor tank, though the "Duke" has done better in the open.

The 100 yards was held at Pittsburgh and was won by McGillivray in 57 seconds. Kahanamoku was second and Ralith third. "Long journey in train; no practice stuff," was how the "Duke" explained his defeat. The night of the race he left for New York and without any rest after his journey had to swim against the east wind in the 220 yards. He was unable to even place in the heats and Volmer won in the final time of 2:23 2-5. The "Duke" considers Volmer a great swimmer, but on the whole regards McGillivray as the best man he met on the trip. He thinks there are a remarkable number of athletes of champion caliber in the country just now. At St. Louis the 50 was won by Ted Carr in 5:03 2-5. When he does not win the "Duke" is second. He was on this occasion about a length behind.

He feels well as ever; can still beat watch. Next trip take more time if can," was how this master of the monosyllable summed up his tour.

An interesting view of the greatest of all swimmers was given by a Hawaiian friend, "I can beat 'em all easily if he wants," said the visitor, who desires to remain anonymous. "But if he did they would not invite him back. The 'Duke' enjoys traveling, so he loses in the liquid to encourage the boys." This may not be true, but it is what the average Hawaiian islander undoubtedly believes. They regard Kahanamoku as unbeatable.

BECKER WINS HIS CLAIM

NATIONAL BOARD NOTIFIED J. W. BURNS OF LYNN CLUB TO PAY HIM $250

The national board has just handed down a decision in re-claim of player M. H. Becker. Player Becker enters claim against J. W. Burns of the Lynn club for $250, contending that his 1915 contract with the Lewiston, Me. club entitled him to one-half the sale or draft money received by that club for the release of the player's services. The Lewiston club transferred Becker to the New York National league club receiving $500 as a first payment. This amount was retained by Lewiston, and the player subsequently returned to the Lewiston club, merged with Lynn. The Lynn club released the player to Toronto on an optional agreement, consideration $500. The player claims one-half of the total received from New York and Toronto, $750, contending that his optional agreement with the player that if Becker was retained by the New York National league club and Lewiston received the balance of purchase price of $2000, the player was to receive $500. This alleged oral agreement is denied by the player's club.

The board finds in any written instrument annulling this contractual obligation. The board recognizes Becker's Lewiston contract as legal and allows the player $250 received from the New York National league club. The further claim of the player is denied for the reason that the player is with the Toronto club on an optional agreement with the Lynn club, wherein the Lynn club retains the right and privilege of exercising its option of recall on August 15, 1916. This optional agreement with Lynn does not fall within the scope of the Lewiston contract. Mr. Burns is directed to forward check for $250 to the office of Secretary Farrell within five days in adjustment of this claim.

NEBES WON THIRD RACE

It took Albert Nebes just nine miles and 15 laps to win the Australian pursuit race from Willie Blackburn of Chicago at the Rollaway Saturday night. The race, the first of its kind ever staged here, was witnessed by a large crowd of enthusiastic skaters. Each racer had a good number of rooters on hand.

The rules of the race were that the event would not be finished until one skater had lapped the other. Time and time again the two speed boys circled the rink, each possessing a splendid stride and traveling at remarkable speed, but Nebes showed his superiority on the local rink and emerged a winner on the 15th lap of the 18th mile. The time was 34 minutes and 47 seconds.

Following the race Blackburn offered to post $200 for a race with Nebes, the champion of New England to be included.

DIAMOND GOSSIP

If Joe Jackson continues his terrific hitting even Ty Cobb will have to watch out. Joe made three two-bases hits in four trips to the bat yesterday. Saturday Joe only secured two doubles.

"Red" Wolfang, the former Lowell slasher, is going better in the big leagues this year than ever and is used quite frequently by Manager Rowland of the White Sox. Saturday Wolfang and Harper of Washington pitched a double duel, the former winning by the score of 2 to 1.

All that Tris Speaker did in Saturday game at Lowell was to hit five times at bat including a double and accept the two chances that were offered to him in the outfield.

Fleider Jones' St. Louis Browns had their recent winning streak broken by the Red Sox in a 10-inning game. The largest Saturday crowd that ever witnessed a game in St. Louis was present which showed that there is an enthusiasm there if the fans are given the goods.

Pitcher Morton of Cleveland broke the strike-out record for the American league yesterday, fanning 13 men. In doing so he broke the record of four batters, Witt, Pick, Layton and Finner, but the first named reached first base by reason of the third strike being called. Witt, Pick and Layton are the American league's leading pitchers.

EASTERN LEAGUE COMMENT

All up for Springfield tomorrow!
Lowell's lineup should introduce some new faces before the week is over.

Hammond of Springfield and Welsor of New London are having a tight race for batting honors in the Eastern league. The former now holds the loftiest perch with an average of .366 and Welsor is battling for an even .350. Maloney of Worcester is close behind with a mark of .355. Other regulars batting over .300 are: Shannon, Denner, Russell, New London; Denner, Russell, Bridgeport; Orcutt, Lynn; Rodriguez, New London; Flynn, Springfield; Kilhullen, Lowell; Eese, Springfield.

With "Hank" Horsey released, the Lowell management will have to discover a new pitcher when the double-headers come frequently, though there is no immediate necessity of five twirlers owing to the weather. Lowell plays one double bill at Spalding this week and others are sure to follow closely. A new first baseman is just being acquired and is expected to arrive any day, probably about the middle of the week.

"Bunny" Hearne of New London is the real leading pitcher in the Eastern league though two other pitchers who have only appeared in one or two games are credited with perfect averages. Hearne has won seven and lost one game previous to Saturday last. Martin of Portland and Fortune of New London have each won six and lost one game. "Zek" Lohman has more wins to his credit than any other hurler in the league. He has won nine games and lost three.

Another request has been made by an organization of baseball fans to induce the local management to have Saturday games start at half-hour earlier than the usual hour. "When Lowell men," a reader writes, "and time to reach Boston on Saturday in time for the dance, it is half-hour earlier at Spalding park by 2:30. With this earlier start fans would not be late for their supper and everyone would be satisfied."

LEAGUE MEETING FRIDAY

BRIDGEPORT FORFEITED GAME AND OTHER MATTERS TO BE CONSIDERED

HARTFORD, Conn., June 12.—Vice-President Dan O'Neill of the Eastern league yesterday announced another meeting of the league to be held in Boston at the Quincy House Friday night, June 16, at 8 o'clock. Besides a number of minor matters that have cropped up since the last meeting, the league will have to take note of Bridgeport's appeal from the forfeited game to Worcester in the latter city, June 3.

The constitution provides that when a game is forfeited by a visiting club it shall lose all right to participate in the gate receipts and shall pay the home club a fine of $100. There is no provision governing the division of receipts in case a single game of a double-header should be forfeited as was the case in Worcester last Saturday.

It is generally considered that when a double-header is played the first game is a regularly scheduled game and the second game, a postponed game. Bridgeport has already received the $100 guarantee for the postponed game, as provided by the league constitution, and if this construction of the precedence of double-headers should prove correct, then Bridgeport would lose all receipts for last Saturday's game, something in excess of $200.

The league as a whole will likely be asked to decide this question about double-headers before the directors take up Bridgeport's appeal.

KILHULLEN HEADS LIST

LOWELL CATCHER LEADS TEAM-MATES IN BATTING—ALL OTHER MEN UNDER .300 CLASS

Joe Kilhullen, Lowell's classy backstop, is head and shoulders over his teammates in batting with an average of .302, according to the official figures. Incidentally, Joe is the only member of the team who sports an average of .300 or better. Manager Lord has dropped in batting since the last figures were published. Downey, Barrows and Greenback are all hovering around the .255 mark, and the other nine are sitting behind.

The averages of the Lowell players follow:

SHE WAS TRAPPED IN THE BURNING BUILDING ON LAKEVIEW AVENUE

An alarm from box 5 at 5:53 o'clock last night summoned a portion of the fire department to a fire in the three-story tenement frame house at 51 Lakeview avenue, owned by James Calman. One woman in a room on the top floor found herself unable to descend the stairs and was rescued from a window attracted the attention of the firemen. A ladder was raised and the woman was brought down in safety by one of the firemen.

BIG BRITISH SHIP ARRIVES

Reached Boston With $2,000,000 Cargo—Twice in Claws of Germans But Escaped

BOSTON, June 12.—The big British steamer Clan Buchanan, which arrived in Boston late last night with a cargo valued at nearly $2,000,000, narrowly escaped destruction twice on the long passage here from Ceylon, once from the bombs of a German aeroplane, and another time from a hostile submarine.

The Clan Buchanan is the first to reach Boston for more than six months from India, via the Mediterranean. Most of the steamers have come by the Cape of Good Hope route to avoid the submarine perils of the Mediterranean.

At Port Said, as the steamer was leaving the Suez canal, British naval authorities ordered an eight inch gun mounted on the after deck as protection against submarines and a crew of expert gunners from the navy was sent along to man the big gun. The vessel carried the armament as far as Gibraltar.

While the gun was being mounted at Port Said, two German aeroplanes made a raid on the large fleet of warships on duty there and the many merchant vessels in the port.

Hundreds of shells were dropped and one passed within a few feet of the big Boston-bound freighter. The shell exploded near the ship and those on board had a narrow escape from injury by the flying fragments. Several other shells burst close to the steamer and the engine shop near the pier where the Clan Buchanan was tied up was set afire by the German bombs.

The Arab crew of the Clan Buchanan were panic-stricken and refused to work the rest of the day. It was two days later before they fully quieted.

Officers of the freighter told a reporter last night that the Germans were very daring and the machines made daring swoops over the shipping below.

The British warships fired on the air raiders without success on their first visit, but two days later one of the machines returned. Before the task of dropping bombs again could be commenced a 16-inch gun on a British dreadnaught was trained on the flying craft and the first shot went true to its mark, blowing the air raider to atoms.

The Clan Buchanan proceeded through the Mediterranean at full speed while double watches kept a sharp lookout for submarines and the big gun on the after deck was kept in readiness for instant action. The steamer was painted dark gray to resemble a cruiser and at night the lights were screened.

After the vessel had safely passed Malta a message by wireless informed those aboard that a submarine had been sighted in waters through which the British-bound boat had passed less than four hours before. Officers stated that a large fleet of warships and patrol boats were stationed in the Mediterranean to protect British shipping from the undersea raiders.

As the big freighter was nearing Nantucket Friday night a fierce electrical storm was encountered and when it had passed the steamer ran into thick fog which continued until Boston was reached.

HOME RULE

PLAN OUT

Lloyd George Would Put Act Into Operation

Part of Ulster Excluded Pending Action After the War

DUBLIN, June 12.—An official report issued by the nationalist party concerning its recent meeting gives the history of the situation resulting from Premier Asquith's visit to Ireland and the appointment of David Lloyd George to negotiate a settlement of the differences between the Irish factions. The statement says Premier Asquith returned from Ireland profoundly convinced that the Castle government was completely broken down, and that he made no attempt to set it up again by the appointment of either a lord lieutenant or a chief secretary for Ireland.

It gives the proposals of Mr. Lloyd George, formulated on his own responsibility, as a result of his consultations with all the parties, which may be regarded as the government's proposals. The proposals were:

First.—To bring the home rule act into immediate operation.

Second.—To introduce forthwith an amending bill as a strictly war emergency act.

Third.—That during the interim the Irish members were to remain in Westminster in their full numbers.

Fourth.—That during the war emergency period the special provisions should remain under the imperial government.

Fifth.—That immediately after the war an imperial conference of representatives of all dominions to be held to consider the future government of the empire, including the government of Ireland.

Sixth.—That, following this conference and in the interval provided by the war emergency act, a permanent settling of all great outstanding problems should be proceeded with.

The foregoing proposals were set out briefly in a speech at the national meeting by John Redmond, who added that no conference had been held between the opposing parties, each side submitting proposals to its own supporters.

The meeting adjourned after having passed unanimously resolutions protesting against the continuance of martial law in Ireland and condemning both the personnel of and the terms of reference to the commission appointed to investigate the recent rising.

More Officers of More "Cops" With Supt. Welch

The following letter from the mayor to the superintendent of police and having to do with the appointment of more patrolmen is self explanatory:

Lowell, Mass., June 12, 1916.
Mr. Redmond Welch,
Supt. of Police,
Lowell, Mass.

Early in the year the recommendation was made to the municipal council, that the police appropriation for 1916 be made in such a way as to provide for the appointment of ten additional patrolmen, but while the need for men was apparent, it was deemed inexpedient at that time to make provision for their appointment on account of the city's financial condition.

Six months have passed and we have since had numerous demands for police protection for the parks and commons during the summer months, and for an increased traffic service, while one of our traffic posts has become open. During that time also we have kept the expenses of the police department down to a minimum and have conducted the department economically as could be done consistent with efficiency.

There is no doubt that more patrolmen are needed at this time. The police park system during the summer months and for a view looking at this situation I would request that you make a careful analysis of the department appropriation as it now stands together with an estimate of the departmental expenses for the remainder of the year, for I am of the opinion that by the continued exercise of judicious economy, after experience of the first half of the year it may be possible to appoint a few men for work during the summer, without the regular appropriation being unduly increased by the result of your analysis as soon as possible.

Respectfully yours,
James E. O'Donnell,
Mayor of Lowell.

N. E. DELEGATES LEAVE BOSTON
BOSTON, June 12.—New England delegates to the democratic national convention at St. Louis started for that city on a special train today. Delegates from this state and Maine formed the nucleus of the party, which was joined at Ayer by the New Hampshire representatives and at Greenfield by the Vermont delegation and some of the delegates from Connecticut.

Former Gov. David I. Walsh, a delegate at large, was not with the Massachusetts party, as he is in the Philippines. His place will be filled by vote of the delegation en route. The selection of the next national committee man from this state probably will be made at the same time. Dr. John W. Coughlin of Fall River is opposed for re-election by Michael A. O'Neary, chairman of the state committee.

TO ATTACK MEXICO CITY

Zapata Encamped With a Large Body of Men Within Thirty Miles of Capital

NEW YORK, June 12.—Zapata, considered by Mexicans as the most formidable factional leader now opposing the Carranza government, is encamped with a large body of well equipped men within 30 miles of Mexico City and an attack on the capital is expected at any time, according to Howard L. Francis, an engineer, recently connected with the Mexico City Tramway Co., who arrived here today on the steamer ship Morro Castle from Havana. Mr. Francis said that he left Mexico "in a hurry" to avoid arrest, suspicion being directed against him on account of his activity to secure the release of H. A. Dunn, chief engineer of the tramway company. British continued organization—who was seized and thrown into jail three weeks ago. He added that the charges against Mr. Dunn were not made public.

Mr. Francis described business conditions in Mexico as "chaotic."

JAPANESE WITH MEXICAN BANDITS IN LAST RAID

LAREDO, Tex., June 12.—George Conover, an American cowboy, who with Arthur Meyers, was captured yesterday by the Mexican bandits that raided the T. A. Coleman ranch at San Samuel, arrived in Laredo today after a thirty mile trip on foot.

Conover said the band which sought to drive 30 head of horses across the border was composed of five Mexicans and two Japanese. The Japanese, he said, were later captured by de facto government troops. Conover said he was treated well by the Mexicans but the two Japanese wanted to hang him. The bandits left Conover and Meyers at a secluded place and told the Americans to await their return. The Americans fled, hiding in the brush when the Mexicans came back to look for them.

A number of armed citizens and state rangers were dispatched to Webb, Tex., north of here, today when it was reported that railroad bridges were being burned. The report was found groundless but the rangers took in custody two Mexicans supposed to have been connected with the band participating in the Coleman ranch raid.

DENY THAT HORSEMEN CROSSED RIO GRANDE

MERCEDES, Tex., June 12.—Reports that 30 horsemen had crossed the Rio Grande south of Donna are declared to be untrue by Capt. Haines and Lieut. Glass of Troop C, third cavalry, who returned here today after an investigation last night. They found no trace of bandits.

The report that American soldiers engaged with Mexicans across the river at Progreso on Friday, is also reported to be erroneous.

MORE ANTI-AMERICAN FEELING IN NORTHERN MEXICO

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Increasing excitement and anti-American feeling throughout northern Mexico is described in today's despatches to the state department. In many cases it was said at the department, the Carranza authorities appear to be indifferent to what is going on.

Neither details of the reports nor information as to the points heard from were made public, on the ground that the work of American consuls would be handicapped.

Officials made no attempt to conceal their anxiety over the situation which appeared to be crystallizing in the northern Mexican states.

The employees of the Ben Marche, at the corner of Gilman and Elm streets, held a meeting Saturday evening for the purpose of discussing the question of whether or not they should take part in the Preparedness parade. J. L. Chalfoux Co.

The clerks of the J. L. Chalfoux Co.'s store will take part in the Preparedness parade and it was stated this morning that the delegation will be headed by Harold L. Chalfoux. Inasmuch as Mr. Chalfoux has not the time to drill those who will be in his division, he has transferred that part of the work to William Soucy, who is connected with Battery C and tomorrow evening Instructor Soucy will assist his paraders in the South common and there give them a hint or two as to how to turn a corner, etc. It is possible that Instructor Soucy will have as his assistant Joseph Gregoire of the boys' clothing department, who recently joined Co. G sixth regiment, and who knows a thing or two about marching.

OUTING POSTPONED

Yesterday was the tenth anniversary of the founding of Branch St. Marie, C. F. of South Lowell, and the officers of the organization had organized an outing for the members and their friends to commemorate the anniversary. The affair was to be held at McChesney's farm, Haverhill, but on account of the bad weather the event was postponed to Sunday, July 2. The committee in charge wish it understood that the event did not take place yesterday as announced in a morning paper today, but, weather permitting, will be carried out on July 5.

TIED LOOKING WOMEN

Some women always wear a worn, tired look. It is the outward sign of nervousness, neurasthenia perhaps, with its characteristic symptoms of worry, headaches and sleeplessness.

Overwork, grief, undue excitement, the late hours and nervous strain of a strenuous social season, lack of outdoor exercise, any or all of these may be responsible for the trouble, but the most common cause at this season of the year is the grip.

Whatever the cause, if you feel the need of more strength try the great non-alcoholic tonic, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed toward building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and with proper regulation of the diet have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to anemia, or bloodlessness, shown by most neurasthenic patients, is also corrected by these tonic pills. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes $2.50.

Write for the free booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System" and a diet book. Address: Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

CATHOLIC CHURCH NEWS

Mission at St. Michael's Closed—
Rev. Fr. Tighe's Announcement—
Notes of Other Parishes

The week's mission for the men of St. Michael's parish was brought to a close yesterday afternoon before a congregation that taxed the church to its capacity. The Dominican fathers who conducted the mission expressed their gratification at the very large attendance of men during the week.

Services yesterday afternoon consisted of the rosary, sermon, bestowing of the papal blessing, reception of new members into the Holy Name society and solemn benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Rev. John J. Shaw, the pastor, officiated at the benediction, assisted by Rev. Frs. Lynch and Taitan. All the sermons of the day were preached by Rev. Fr. Healey, O.P. In the evening he spoke feelingly in a review of the mission, complimenting the men of St. Michael's on their qualities of faith and perseverance and urging them to be always faithful to the lessons they have learned and the resolutions they have made.

There was a great number of communicants at the early morning masses, over 1200 going at the 8 o'clock mass.

Immaculate Conception

Important announcements were made at all of the masses at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday by the pastor, Rev. Lawrence F. Tighe, O.M.I. He referred to the closing exercises of the parochial schools next Sunday evening at the Opera House. In no spirit of boasting, he said, but in order that the people of the parish might learn what their schools were doing, he gave some statistics that proved conclusively the high standard attained by the parochial schools of the parish. Of the large class of 47 graduates, 41 have successfully passed the diocesan examination with a rank of 90 or more.

The examination papers are sent from Boston and results are marked there with those of all the schools of the diocese, and the priests of the immaculate Conception feel that few if any have a better record than the local schools. The high record calls attention once again to the splendid work of the sisters in these schools.

Rev. Fr. Tighe announced also that a special parish collection will be taken up, commencing next Wednesday, in order to defray the expenses of the old Moody school, property recently purchased for a school annex. Not since there was a special collection for a new altar has there been such an appeal to the people, and he expressed his confidence that the results would be most encouraging.

The 40 hours' devotion was brought to a close after high mass with the usual solemn procession of the boys and girls of the Infant Jesus sodality, the sanctuary choir and the officiating clergyman.

St. Patrick's

A very impressive sight was witnessed at St. Patrick's church yesterday at the 8.30 o'clock mass when the large class of first communicants approached the altar. More than 200 were in line, the girls being in white dresses with veils and the boys in dark suits with a white band on the arm and with a white carnation in the lapel. Rev. Timothy P. Callahan was celebrant of the mass and communion was administered by Rev. Fr. Monaghan, O'Brien, P.R. and Rev. J. J. Kerrigan. Special hymns for the occasion were sung by the St. Cecilia choir of the academy with Organist Michael Johnson directing.

St. Peter's

Rev. D. J. Keleher, Ph.D. was celebrant of the 7.30 o'clock mass at St. Peter's church yesterday at which the Married Ladies' sodality received communion in a body. The high mass at 11 was celebrated by Rev. W. George Mullin and the sermon was preached by Rev. D. J. Keleher. Rev. P. L. Clayton delivered a very eloquent sermon on the gospel of the day at the 2.15 mass.

There was a most enthusiastic meeting of the Holy Name society last evening. An address was made by Rev. D. J. Keleher, Ph.D., who is spiritual director of the society. He commended the men on the spirit shown in all relating to their church and society and reminded them of its aims and ideals. He also praised the spirit of enthusiasm shown always by the members and referred to the great growth of the society in the parish.

The annual procession of St. Peter's Holy Italian society to St. Peter's will take place next Sunday, the members to attend high mass in a body.

Sacred Heart

Fifth mass at the Sacred Heart church yesterday was celebrated by Rev. Matthew English, O.M.I. who was ordained to the priesthood a week ago and who celebrated his first mass at his home parish in South Groveland last week. It was announced that the annual graduation exercises of the parochial schools will be held in the school hall on Moore street next Sunday evening at 7.30.

Arrangements are being perfected for the reception to be given Very

Rev. T. Wade Smith, O.M.I. on the afternoon of July 1. There was a meeting of the men of the parish on Thursday evening and it was decided to hold another meeting next Tuesday evening. The O.M.I. Coadjutors will act as an escort on the day of the reception.

St. Columba's

The Holy Name society of St. Columba's parish received communion at the 7 o'clock mass yesterday. The pastor, Rev. P. J. Hally was the celebrant. The parish mass was celebrated by Rev. T. W. Buckley, who preached the sermon.

The members of the Sunday school classes are to take their examinations and finish their course for the season. On Tuesday evening the members of the sodality will meet.

St. Margaret's

Preparations are being made for the annual lawn party at St. Margaret's church at the Kaslo on June 25. The usual elaborate feature will be provided by the children of the parish, who are being trained under the supervision of Miss Blanche Perrin. The high mass has been discontinued for the summer, but a low mass will be substituted at the same hour.

Secretary of War Off for St. Louis —President Completes Draft of Platform Planks

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Secretary of War Baker will be President Wilson's personal representative at the democratic national convention. He will leave tonight for St. Louis, carrying with him a practically complete draft of the more important planks written by the president himself, for the consideration of the platform committee.

It had been planned to have the president represented by the man chosen to succeed William F. McCombs as chairman of the national democratic committee. This selection has been delayed, however, and it was decided to send Secretary Baker.

The president completed the tentative draft of platform planks in which he is particularly interested yesterday. Cabinet members already have sent to St. Louis drafts of such planks relating to matters involving their respective departments.

The most impressive scene witnessed in connection with the Preparedness parade to be held in this city Wednesday evening was staged at the high school this forenoon when Congressman John Jacob Rogers addressed the boys of the high school regiment on what the Preparedness parade stands for. Principal Irish called a mass meeting of the boys and every seat in the hall was occupied. The reception given the congressman is best told in his own words: "I think it was one of the most flattering receptions I ever received in my life. It was actually inspiring. There is nothing so grand as youth after all. I sincerely hope the boys will all turn out and feel that they will. It was worth the trip from Washington to meet them and talk to them."

Miss Jennie L. Allen, president of the Lowell Teachers' organization, spoke with Congressman Rogers after the meeting. Mrs. Allen had heard part of Mr. Rogers' talk to the boys. She also heard how wildly and enthusiastically they had cheered him and she said she wished he could find his way clear to talk to the teachers for she felt the congressman's enthusiasm and influence would inspire them to prepare. Mr. Rogers said he thought "America First Parade" would be even a more appropriate name than "Preparedness parade."

Congressman Rogers was introduced by Principal Irish and the latter was given a great reception. "We are going to have a big parade Wednesday evening," said Mr. Rogers, "and you boys are invited. You don't have to march, but I want to tell you why you ought to march even though you are not obliged to."

"Lowell, more than any other city in the world, needs just such a demonstration as is being planned for Wednesday night. What does about four out of every five persons in Lowell, according to the latest census reports, are of foreign birth or parentage and I presume that applies to this school. We have a higher percentage along this line than any other city in the country and it is, therefore, necessary that we should do our share in the welding process that is necessary for true patriotism."

"If I had my way, about it I would call it America First parade instead of Preparedness parade, for even though we have many races and many opinions we are Americans and truly has it been said that the United States is the melting pot of the world."

ammunition on either the Atlantic or Pacific coast to stand invaders off for more than 10 minutes. Wasn't that a fearful awakening?"

"We remember the naval battle in the North sea when a British ship sunk a German ship because the latter was not fast enough to keep out of her way. The German ship couldn't get fast enough to keep out of danger, but we learned a little later that the slow German ship was faster than the fast ship in the United States navy. That was another 'ouch awakening.'"

"We are pursuing a villainous character now in Mexico. We are chasing that bad man Villa and I presume you read in the papers within a day or two that Gen. Funston sent back word that he can't do any more unless the government sends him more men. But the government has no more men of

German Attack on Verdun Has Again Swung to East of the Meuse—Two More Neutral Merchantmen Sunk

The German attack on Verdun has again swung to the east of the Meuse, following the assaults of Saturday night on the French positions near Hill 304, west of the river. Last night German infantry charged French positions west of Fort Vaux, but the French war office reports was unable to gain ground.

At the same time the French positions near Fort Souville and Tavaner south of Fort Vaux were bombarded heavily. Paris looks for a severe struggle for possession of Fort Souville, to which bombardment may be preliminary. Should the Germans capture the fort they would open a breach in the French defenses which might compel the French to abandon this entire line and fall back on the inner defenses on the right bank of the river.

West of the Meuse the only development of the night was a heavy artillery action in the vicinity of Chateau Thierry.

Russian Push On
The spectacular Russian advance in Galicia and Volhynia apparently has not been checked, although few details of this campaign are permitted to come to light. Vienna concedes the withdrawal of Austrian troops in northern Bukovina, where the advance of the Russians has brought them within 12 miles of the capital, Czernowitz.

Two Neutral Vessels Sunk
The sinking of two more neutral merchantmen is reported. The Swedish steamship Emmy has been destroyed by a mine off Falsterbo with the loss of five men. The Norwegian steamer Bur also has been sunk, whether by mine or torpedo is unknown. Fifteen men from the Bur have been landed at Ymuden, Holland.

BERLIN, June 12, via London, 4 p. m.—Russian troops attempted to advance northeast of Buczacz, Galicia, and were repulsed, the war office announced today. More than 1500 Russians were captured.

HUGHES IN NEW YORK OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN

Confers With Wickersham, Alleged Mediator in Plans to Gain Support of T. R.—Others Call

NEW YORK, June 12.—The first organized political move in the furtherance of the campaign for the election of Charles E. Hughes was announced today upon the arrival of the republican candidate from Washington. It was the revival of the Hughes alliance, an organization of republicans, democrats and independent voters which came into existence during the second campaign of Mr. Hughes for governor of New York in 1902. The announcement was made by Travis H. Whitney, public service commissioner, one of the first to meet Mr. Hughes on his arrival on an early morning train. Mr. Whitney accompanied the presidential candidate to the Hotel Astor where Mr. Hughes, established his headquarters. He said the same men who were identified with the Hughes who was cheered to the echo and then some. Mr. Whitney told the boys that they will be on trial Wednesday evening. He hoped they would practice self-denial and self-sacrifice by giving two hours of their own time to the Preparedness parade, the purpose of which had been so well told by Congressman Rogers. Mr. Buritt was sure that the boys would all turn out. He said the school had never yet been disappointed in them and he knew they would not make this the first time. "I am satisfied," he said, "that the heart of the young America is in the right place and I also know that the spirit of loyalty has been stirred within you."

After Principal Irish had given them the necessary instructions, the boys filed out of the hall, leaving their seats to a man to avoid confusion. It was Congressman Rogers' chief of staff, Thomas J. O'Donnell, who suggested that the congressman talk with the boys of the high school and it was a happy thought.

Committee on Arrangements
The committee on arrangements met in the mayor's office at city hall this morning at 9 o'clock. All members were present, and a great deal of detail was attended to. The mayor received a great many "parade" letters and telegrams which were shown and passed upon by the committee. The mayor's mail has taken on such proportions that the city messenger has put in considerable time for weeks past in carrying the mayor's private secretary and his assistant are so busy that it seems almost a sin to speak to them or interrupt them in any way. Among the letters received this

THREATENED BREAK Averted
NEW YORK, June 12.—The threatened break between the representatives of the railroads and their employees over wage adjustments was averted, temporarily at least. The afternoon when the railroads announced that their counter-proposition submitted this morning, could be considered as merely tentative. The employees' representatives agreed to discuss it with that understanding.

BOY AND JEWELRY MISSING
BOSTON, June 12.—William J. Pike, 15 years old, who came in and stayed in this country after a story of hardships in the Canadian northwest where he had been sent from an English orphan asylum, today was reported missing with jewelry and money from the home of his benefactor at Quincy; and later was arrested at Mahoning, N. H. He was held for the immigration authorities, who plan to reopen his case with a view to having him deported. A. L. Wright of Quincy, who had given the boy a home, stated that he ran away with two gold watches, a revolver, cartridges, two knives and razor and money.

Roosevelt. Mr. Ickes said the national committee "was all at sea" when it came Saturday.

ORPHEUS MURDER TRIAL
WAUKEGAN, Ill., June 12.—E. O. Orp, concluding his testimony today in the trial of his son, Will H. Orp, accused of the murder of Marian Lamberg, declared his son did not sleep at home the night before the girl's body was found in the snow-covered woods.

The elder Orp also testified that a month before the death of Miss Lamberg he had instructed an assistant to throw away the stock of poison he used in gardening which, the prosecution alleges, caused the death of the girl. Orp maintained the poison had lost its strength, but that his assistant had neglected to destroy it as he had directed.

FOR DEFECTIVE SIGHT

Commission for the Blind Recommends Classes in Schools—Occupational Colony Proposed

Special to The Sun
STATE HOUSE, Boston, June 12.—At least one-tenth of one per cent. of the school children in Massachusetts require special education in defective eyesight, or conservation of eyesight, classes, according to an estimate made by the Massachusetts commission for the blind, in its annual report issued today.

Special studies made during the year in Springfield, Worcester, New Bedford, Lynn and Cambridge are made the basis of the estimate. In Worcester, 125 children in the second grade schools were found to have one-half or less of normal vision, and although the investigation is not complete, 12 were found who require special classes. In New Bedford the number of children requiring special defective eyesight classes is 33; in Lynn 15; and in Cambridge 20. Springfield has already established such a class, with 12 pupils.

The commission's figures show that 17 of the children examined in all the cities should be transferred to such classes; if this percentage should hold throughout the commonwealth, there would be 650 children in need of such special opportunities.

In making this estimate, however, the commission points out that it includes only such children as are laboring under most obvious visual handicaps. If those less obviously handicapped were to be included, the commission says the number might well be multiplied by four.

In New Bedford, a total of 473 children were found with vision one-half or less of normal, and of these 251 were neither wearing glasses nor had they been examined by experts; in Lynn the figures were 580 and 352; while Cambridge made a far worse showing, with 824 and 648. In these three cities, among 493 children whose work or health would have been threatened by neglect of their eyes, 378 when examined and prescribed for by experts had enough vision to continue work in the regular public schools. In almost all of these cases, the commission says, proper eyeglasses were all that were needed.

The Workshops

After explaining the results accomplished in its workshops for adults, the commission makes a plea for authority to establish an occupational colony, to supplement, rather than to replace the existing shops, expressing the opinion that it will provide both an adequate center for industrial training for men and regular institutional occupation for certain groups.

"Such a colony is needed," the commission says, "first, for training purposes, both to relieve the established, non-resident shops and to provide a residential center where time and supervision may be given more freely than in a shop to the special needs of the individual; it is needed, in the second place, in order to provide for certain men who would be either happier or safer in such an institution than in the community; it is needed, in the third place, for that type of unskilled man who cannot earn his living in a non-resident shop, but who can be made useful and to a degree self-supporting in such a place."

"It should be made clear at the start that residence in this proposed colony is to be purely voluntary. It is to serve the double purpose of a training institution, where men may be tried out in order to discover what they are best fitted for, and for a true colony, where certain of them may be given continuous employment as long as they are able and willing to do their share. The colony, therefore, is designed to accommodate a changing group, the more self-reliant men being transferred to outside employment as they show themselves prepared, those entirely incapable or those unwilling to do their

Suffrage Forces Pouring Into St. Louis to Insist on Plank in Democratic Platform

ST. LOUIS, June 12.—Disappointed, but not dismayed by the result of their labors at the republican convention, women suffragists yesterday began pouring into St. Louis to insist on the full-fledged equal rights plank in the democratic platform.

Regarding their failure to induce the republicans to endorse suffrage by constitutional amendment as a temporary setback, the suffrage leaders insisted that good might come out of the situation. Democratic leaders, they argued, should take action to capture the very large woman vote in the suffrage states.

A declaration for woman suffrage in the democratic platform, suffrage leaders insisted, would mean added thousands of votes for President Wilson and the rest of the ticket this fall.

Many political observers predict that inasmuch as the nominations virtually are conceded in this convention, the most interesting fight will center on the suffrage issue. Peace and prohibition, of course, will attract much attention, but the suffrage leaders insist that these issues soon will be overshadowed by the dominating influence of the question of equal rights.

Neither delegates, leaders nor crowds will be permitted until the last moment of the convention to forget suffrage. There will be street parades and other demonstrations, and 31 women will sit in the democratic convention. Thirteen will be delegates with the privilege of ballot of presidential and vice presidential nominees and eight are alternates.

ALLEN OUT FOR HUGHES

Monroe Swinging Into Line—Thinks Roosevelt Will Support Hughes in Coming Campaign

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 12.—Henry J. Allen, Kansas progressive leader, here as a newspaper correspondent, reporting the democratic convention who has announced his support of Mr. Hughes today expressed belief that Col. Roosevelt also will take an active part in the Hughes campaign. Mr. Allen said that former Representative Victor Murdock, chairman of the progressive national committee was more prominently suggested to succeed Col. Roosevelt as progressive standard bearer if Col. Roosevelt finally refused the nomination.

"I think the hour is too important for any man to worry about the name of a party he is going to support," said Mr. Allen. "If Col. Roosevelt accepts the splendid statement of Mr. Hughes as being for a party which he is going to support, I think the fight is going to be clearly between Wilson and Hughes, and in that case I prefer Hughes."

"As far as I am personally concerned, if Col. Roosevelt declines the progressive nomination, I will support Mr. Hughes. I think the fight is going to be clearly between Wilson and Hughes, and in that case I prefer Hughes."

"As I read the Hughes statement it seems to me to meet the conditions laid down by Col. Roosevelt, and I believe Col. Roosevelt will maintain rather an important relationship to the Hughes propaganda."

Mr. Allen said Gov. Johnson of California was going to Oyster Bay to urge Col. Roosevelt's acceptance of the progressive nomination and that the progressive leaders were considering the selection of Justice Hughes to fill the Roosevelt vacancy as the progressive presidential nominee with Col. John M. Parker of Louisiana as the vice presidential candidate in order to maintain the party's existence and its right to a place on state ballots, especially in the south.

SHOCK OF COASTER FATAL

GIRL RIDER DIED FROM HEART FAILURE AT SALISBURY BEACH YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

SALISBURY BEACH, June 12.—Heart failure, induced, it is believed, by the sudden downward lurch of a roller coaster car in which she was riding at Salisbury beach, caused the death of Miss Bessie Wentworth, 29 years old, of West Lebanon, Me., late yesterday afternoon, while she was being rushed to the Newburyport hospital.

With her cousin, Miss Vivian Wentworth of Georgetown, whose guest she has been for several days, the young woman boarded a car on the roller coaster to experience the thrills of "taking the dip." At the very first dip, she caught her breath sharply and sank back in the car unconscious, remaining in this posture until the trip was completed.

An ambulance was summoned to take the young woman to the hospital. She died on the way to the hospital, without having regained consciousness.

Mrs. Wentworth had practiced her profession of nursing in West Lebanon since her graduation from the Maine hospital several years ago.

Continued

"In another sector, we captured 30,000 rifle cartridges, 300 boxes of machine gun cartridges, 200 boxes of hand-grenades, 1000 usable rifles, four machine guns, two range finders and a Norton portable pump for the extraction of drinking water.

"The capture of such enormous war materials prepared by the enemy for various operations affords proof of how opportune was our coup against the enemy.

"During yesterday's fighting we took as prisoners one general, 490 officers and 25,100 soldiers. We also captured 30 guns, 13 machine guns and five bomb throwers. This makes the total trophies in recent operations one general, 1649 officers and more than 106,000 soldiers, and 124 guns, 120 machine guns and 58 bomb throwers.

"Among the various episodes may be noted the plucky struggle of our young formations near Rostitche, on the Stry near Lutsk. Here the Germans attempted to render assistance to the Austrians, but by our infantry attack delivered under cover of heavy artillery, they were dislodged from the town, losing over 2000 prisoners, two guns and some machine guns. Our troops pursued the retreating Germans.

Capture of Dubno

"Our forces operating in the region of Dubno (one of the fortresses comprising the Volhynian triangle) captured the town and fort and are on the enemy's heels. Some Russian detachments, crossing the Ikwa river, have developed their offensive. A part of the Russians occupied the region of the village of Damiidovka, on the Mylnoff-Berestetchko road, forcing the enemy at his Mylnoff point of support to surrender. Besides dislodging the enemy from his principal position north of Bouchatche, we made many prisoners there, including the staff of an Austrian battalion and also took a great quantity of arms.

"We overthrew the enemy on the Strya. Near Ossowitze, north of Bouchatche, one of our regiments captured a complete battery of four 10-centimetre cannons.

"Despite the enemy's desperate resistance, his violent flank and curtain fire, together with the explosion of mines, General Techitsky's troops captured an enemy position south of Dobronovitz, 20 versts northeast of Czernowitz (Bukovina). In this region alone we took as prisoners one general, 347 officers and 18,000 men and captured 10 guns and at the time this report is despatched prisoners are still coming in.

"Southeast of Zales Szozyky, by an energetic coup, we overthrew the enemy, who retreated. The enemy blew up the Yurkoulz railway station. Turkoman cavalry charged the retreating enemy and turned his retreat into a disorderly rout.

Trying to Rally

"In attempts to save the situation the enemy at many places made furious counter attacks. Among others at dawn Saturday in the region of Semki, east of Kolki, numerically superior enemy forces attacked our advanced elements, and under cover of a concentration of their fire forced them back over the Stry. But the same day we arrested all ulterior developments of this offense.

"The enemy is resisting with special desperation in the region of Torogovitsky, on the Stry south of Lutsk, where he is fighting with sanguinary fury.

"The total results of the violent attacks on our troops, carried out from the 4th to the 10th without giving the enemy a moment's respite, place in strong relief the fact that they have forced the enemy's organized lines on the vast front from the wooded region of southwest Russia to the Roumanian frontier.

"Caucasus region: The Turks made repeated attacks on our positions in the Platana region, but were repulsed with heavy losses, abandoning in front of our trenches hundreds of dead. In the direction of Gumesan we have occupied first line enemy trenches. In the direction of Diarbekr we are advancing and have made prisoners and captured boxes of ammunition."

ENGLAND FIGURES GERMANY'S

TOTAL LOSS AT 2,924,586

LONDON, June 12.—Germany up to the end of May had lost 2,924,586 soldiers, of whom 724,412 were killed, according to a British official tabulation of the German casualty lists given out here today. The compilation did not include German losses in naval engagements or in the fighting in the German colonies.

The British official statement quotes the German official casualty lists for the month of May as placing the total German losses at 111,000 prisoners and wounded at 102,507. This number, it is pointed out, brings the German total losses, exclusive of naval and colonial casualties, to 2,924,586.

The German figures in the May list as enumerated in the British account are as follows:

Dead, 22,471; wounded, 72,975; prisoner and missing, 7951; total, 102,507.

The German official lists of casualties up to the end of May give these totals:

Dead, 734,412; wounded, 1,755,652; prisoners and missing, 23,522; total, 2,924,586 both sides of the river Meuse north of the French fortress of Verdun, according to the German official statement issued today. The Germans have added three cannon and seven machine guns to the booty taken by them on the east bank of the river.

The text of the statement reads:

"Western theatre: On both sides of the Meuse there was violent artillery fighting. The booty announced yesterday from the fighting on the east bank of the river was further increased by three cannon and seven machine guns.

"East theatre: South of Krevio, German reinforcing detachments pushed forward into Russian position. They destroyed the enemy works and brought back more than 100 Russians and one machine gun.

"Balkan theatre: There is nothing to report."

ITALIAN CABINET, HEADED BY PREMIER SALANDRA, RESIGNS OFFICE

LONDON, June 12.—The Italian cabinet, headed by Premier Salandra, resigned yesterday. This action of the ministry resulted from the failure of the Italian chamber of deputies yesterday to pass a vote of confidence in the government following the presentation of the budget of the ministry of the interior.

A Rome despatch received here today by wireless telegraph said the ministerial crisis would soon be ended. All political parties, it was contended, favored a national ministry containing Baron Sonnino, the minister of foreign affairs, and the present military ministers.

EXPOSING OUR HAND

Rail as we will against the militarism of the great powers, we can learn a great deal from the manner in which they conduct their national affairs, and if a real test should come in which this country would be called upon to meet another great power in battle, we should be forced to adopt policies that may now seem unnecessary if not repugnant.

The present attitude of America is like that of an honest, candid boy in a council of astute politicians. Having no designs against any country on the map of the world, we assume too easily that no country has designs on us and our very leaders shout in congress, in the legislatures and from every platform of the land things that ought to be regarded as solemn government secrets. Sometimes in a bad cause, we say and publish things about the American army and navy and American government plans that give to nations across the water tips that they employ spies and an intricate system of espionage to discover from each other.

Let us learn a lesson from the sinking of the cruiser Hampshire with Kitchener and his staff on board. Despite all explanations, the general impression is that it was due to the clever work of German spies who gave the information to their government. In this connection there was a rumor—never denied officially—that Kitchener was a passenger on the Sussex when it was torpedoed by a German commander. Suppose, for illustration of the point, that we were in a war with Germany, and that our troops and leading men were going on diplomatic or military missions. Unless a radical change shall come over the country some well-meaning American public officials and sensational newspapers would do the work that has been done by Germany by her system of spies. Somebody has said that a subscription to the Congressional Record would do more for a nation fighting the United States than the most elaborate system of espionage, and there is truth in the ironical statement.

Democracy is glorious, but it has its perils. There is not an American soldier or sailor who cannot give private information about the faults of the service. Every man who is out for votes sets himself up as a diplomat or a government expert. Our forts and our navy yards are open to inspection almost without restriction and it is but recently that we have learned to guard our munition plants. It must be the heartfelt hope of all true Americans that our dangers may never prove anything but imaginary, but it is well to shut our eyes and refuse to face the truth? Nobody accuses those who endanger America's future of malice or lack of patriotism, but it is only too evident that we have not the cunning which so many other great powers are demonstrating today.

FRESH FROM THE FARM

To the complaint that the farmers of Massachusetts are not making the most of their opportunities the answer is repeatedly made that they cannot find markets near home. Whether through lack of patronage, or inadequate transportation or the more efficient methods of distant firms, they usually find some markets closed to them. Consequently the people of this state are compelled to purchase products raised in other sections of the country while our Massachusetts farmers look for an outlet for their goods elsewhere.

Those who have argued for a public market have proposed one way to meet the contingency, but it fails to awaken enthusiasm. Officially neglected in this city, the public is wholly indifferent, and from all indications it looks as though the establishment of a public market would be followed by just the same degree of indifference.

There are indications that the promotion of agriculture will soon be one of the main movements in this part of the country, backed by state and national aid. The people are showing more interest than formerly as reflected in the increased attendance at fairs, etc., and if the present disaffection and protests against the high cost of living are taken advantage of, much good may be accomplished.

In the neighboring city of Nashua, N. H., a promoter of agricultural exhibits has leased the extensive fair grounds for five years, feeling that the people of southern New Hampshire are interested in their farms and will patronize farm exhibits. It is a healthy sign and it would be well if the people of Lowell took a like interest in the farm problems of the neighboring towns. It was the hope of the government that the parcel post would be the means of supplying those in cities with products fresh from the farm, and while it has not succeeded in doing so to the fullest extent, there is a growing desire that the problems of the farmer be studied and so far as possible solved by the government and by the American people.

RUSSIAN SUCCESSES

The smallest move along the western war front is given a great deal of prominence in the press despatches, while far greater events in the east go almost unnoticed. Ever since last fall the allies have hinted at a great Russian offensive in the spring and it seems to be now going on, with disastrous results for Austria. For the past week it is said that the Russians have recaptured 6000 square miles from the Austrians and have taken over 100,000 prisoners among whom are many Germans. Lutzky is again in Russian hands, Lemberg is threatened and if this drive keeps up, the Russian armies will once again be on Austrian territory. While it may be said that the war has now surged backward and forward over this region many times, it must be admitted that the Russians are now in a far better position than the Austrians. Germany is forced to keep well to the west at Verdun and elsewhere, while the forces of the czar have been re-organized and supplied with arms and ammunition. In all probability should the Russian offensive go on, Germany will reinforce her ally as before, but with the central powers men are becoming more scarce and if the war can drag on for many more months, the uncanny power of Russia to recuperate will have a great part in shaping the ultimate result.

SPOILING NIAGARA

Of all the attacks made on the volume of waters at Niagara—and they have been legion—the most novel is that suggested in the Engineering Record. It is gravely proposed that the volume of water be stopped at night when the view is less attractive to visitors and diverted to power development, and that the falls be turned on again as a show thing in the morning. This might easily be done, it is stated, by the construction of a dam above the falls. The expert who makes the proposal says explicitly that it would not affect the present power houses and he waxes eloquent on the possibilities—even from a scenic point of view. He thinks that the turning on of the falls in the morning would attract many visitors. Perish the thought! If such a fate should befall our greatest wonder, we could never again controvert the claim that America is a heartless and commercial nation. Needless to say, if the dire proposition were put into effect it would be but a short time before the turning on of the falls daily would be abandoned as an economic waste. It will be well for the American reputation that the American people should become very touchy with regard to Niagara and should resent the slightest whisper that would menace its everlasting beauty.

THE STEAM ROLLER

One of the grim jokes of the Chicago conventions was the apparent lack of a steam roller in the ranks of the republicans and its all too obvious presence among the progressives. Yet, in 1912, the progressives quoted their hatred of the steam roller as one of the main reasons for their separate existence. The events of the past week have shown that the republicans cannot now be handed over in batches by the bosses of old, while one man holds the progressive party under his whip and urges them either or neither as it suits his fancy. The New York Sun comments upon the change in the following pungent sentences: "Never in the variegated history of the various political parties has there been an organization so supinely submissive to the will of one man as the progressives of 1912. Their steam roller is a juggernaut beneath which the Bull Moosers throw themselves with a fanatical ardor that would be sublime if it were not so supremely illogical." It is as true as it is terse, and it is an unintentional tribute to the personal power of Theodore Roosevelt, and a true picture of the fatuity of his followers.

SEN. LODGE'S INCONSISTENCY

One can easily see why Senator Lodge has not been proposed seriously at any time as a presidential candidate. Nobody questions his ability; but he lacks the consistency and the devotion to principle that gives a man political strength. Take his action at the Chicago convention for example. He made a nominating speech for Weeks that was really electrifying in its eloquence. Then on the second ballot for a candidate, he broke to Roosevelt, the man who smashed the party four years ago. That showed the insincerity of his speech for Weeks and his opposition to Hughes, for Roosevelt was openly opposed to Hughes. But when Hughes was nominated Lodge tried to catch on to the band wagon by seconding the motion to make the nomination unanimous. A public man who shows such a lack of fixed principle or devotion can never command public confidence where character is the criterion. Lodge has demonstrated by his acts that he is a trimmer.

One can well imagine that when William Howard Taft heard the result of the action at Chicago he smiled knowingly—and there is no bitterness in either his smile or his frown. The prolonged cheers for him were not wholly complimentary to Roosevelt, but then Roosevelt was cheered and toasted by his own special admirers until human endurance gave out, so he may not have grudged six minutes to his generous opponent of 1912. Taft is not a wrecker, he has never adopted the rule or ruin policy of Roosevelt.

Mandy, the Undisturbed

Solitude does not make for eloquence. "Mandy," said Bill Itner, the ultimate denizen of Bitter creek, "where's my razor?"

Entered then Ike Kipper, the arch enemy of Bill Itner, a bad citizen from across the range. A nine-inch Bowie knife in his belt, he was invited to take the razor. The table was demolished, the stove overturned, the mantel clock was broken, and Mandy, finally Bill secured the knife. As he pushed the dying Ike from its base, "Behind the clock," said Mandy. "You sure do"—Judge.

No Trespassing

Two men whom we know have summer places side by side. Both estates are closed during the winter months and unprotected except for the occasional visits of a decrepit caretaker. Both are near the road and easy of access.

The first owner has posted his estate with large signs headed "No Trespassing," threatening to visit the rigors of the law on those who disobey.

The second owner has printed over his signature this modest notice: "This house and the grounds about it are a home. Visitors are invited to regard themselves as the guests of the owner and to enjoy themselves in any way that does not destroy the flowers and shrubs, nor endanger the woods by fire."

Which estate, do you think, shows the less damage when the owner returns to it in the spring?—Woman's Home Companion.

Approval

I want to say to the fellow that made this dingy old world I love it! I couldn't find a better place to live. I have stretched the skies above it. One-tenth as smooth, and if I had a tree for to make this morning I reckon my tree would be better before it was done, a-bornin'!

And as for all the other things, they're part of the same dingy story! I couldn't find a better place to live. I have stretched the skies above it. One-tenth as smooth, and if I had a tree for to make this morning I reckon my tree would be better before it was done, a-bornin'!

If I'd spend my life a-tryin', after all of the work I'd done, I couldn't find a better place to live. I have stretched the skies above it. One-tenth as smooth, and if I had a tree for to make this morning I reckon my tree would be better before it was done, a-bornin'!

But just that I can't be did, exceptin' by the designer.

An omniscient, omnipotent, thing, more so than an ocean liner!

And so I can't find no fault, in this skies or in this earth beneath 'em. Nor the blooms that the children pick to make into chains and wreaths.

About their old daddy's neck. What- ever He's made I love it! The earth and the restless sea, the clouds that are white above it! The whisper of the wind at night, when the south winds are blowing. The cool of the winds at dawn and the sound of the battle lowin'! The laughter of creeks that run, and the honey bees a-buzzin'! The flowers that dip and nod and send me their sweet perfume! I don't reckon no more cares if I like it or if I never.

But I do, by ding, I do! I could say in this world forever!

—Judd M. Lewis in the Houston Post.

Quite Unnecessary

An American stopping at a London hotel rang several times for attendance, but no one answered. He started for the door, but on the way he noticed a sign on the wall which read: "No one to answer your call and no elevator running."

"What's the matter with this dashed hotel?" he growled. "No one to answer your call and no elevator running!"

"Well, you see, sir," said the maid, "the Zeps were reported, and we were all ordered to the cellar for safety."

"I was on the fifth floor and I wasn't warned."

"No, sir," was the bland reply, "but you see, sir, you don't understand the employers' liability act, sir."—Boston Transcript.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH THEATRE

She's the most fascinating creature in moving pictures today, is Miss Billie Burke, who will appear in the third chapter of "Gloria's Romance," at the B. F. Keith theatre twice today, tomorrow and Wednesday. Billie has them all beaten when it comes to producing charm. Either in a Callot ball gown, or in a simple, sensible dress, she is equally attractive. The third chapter of this engrossing serial is entitled "A Perilous Love," and it shows the delightful "Gloria" being rapidly enmeshed by the scheming "Dr. Renard." "Gloria" doesn't quite lose herself, however, in the nick of time to save her. This Kismet feature is one of the picture hits of the town.

The lights and shades of society life are artistically presented in the Tri-anglars' Bee five-act picture, "Honorable Alibi," which will also be a feature of the first half of the week. Beulah Barrisale will be presented in this, and with her there will be associated Lewis S. Stone and Walter Edwards, a captain of industry, having risen in the world, feels that his wife is no longer of the stamp to make him a properly fit abode in high society. He feels that he should have a more attractive companion. He does his best to have her leave him, without having a strength of character enough to state the plain facts. Finally, the captain of industry meets a man who says he has lost all sense of honor, and he magnate offers him $50,000 if he will gain the love of his wife. The man who is without honor starts out to do it, but discovers the rudiments of being the good name of the wife. Barrisale has the role of the unassuming wife, who accepts without question the man without honor as the friend of her husband. This is a powerful picture, with many new things brought into it. The comedy feature will be the Triangle-Kismet in two acts, "His Auto Ruination," with little Mack Swain in the big part. This is a screamingly funny comedy.

The top line picture of the last half of the week will be "The Flying Torpedo," the scenario of which was written by John Emerson, who will play the principal character in it. The story tells how an eccentric detective story writer foiled the enemies of this country and made possible the use of a naval mine as a defense which saved the nation. The flying torpedo is the means selected to defeat the enemy.

THE VALUE OF A CLEAN SKIN IN MAINTAINING HEALTH.

Snakes throw off their outer skin once a year. Human beings change their skin perhaps nine times in a year; that is, they have a new skin about once in six weeks.

The value of a clean skin in maintaining health is not properly understood by the majority of people. Cleanliness is a part of health. You cannot be healthy unless you are clean not only externally, but also internally.

The blood should also be assisted occasionally, like the skin, in throwing off poisons so that the system may not get clogged and leave a weak spot for disease germs to enter the system. When the blood is clogged we suffer from what is commonly called a cold.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery purifies the blood and entirely eradicates the poisons that breed and feed disease. It thus eradicates eczema, boils, pimples and other eruptions that mar and scar the skin. Pure blood is essential to good health. The weak, run-down, debilitated condition which so many people experience is commonly the effect of impure blood. Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery not only cleanses the blood of impurities, but it increases the activity of the blood-making glands, and it enriches the body with an abundant supply of pure, rich blood.

Take it as directed and it will search out impure and poisonous matter in the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys and drive it from the system.

It will furnish you with rich, pure blood full of vital force—the kind that increases energy and ambition, that rejuvenates the entire body.

At drug stores in tablet or liquid form. Send 10c for large trial package to Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. Send for free magazine "Beauty and Health," or a free medical book on any chronic disease.

New Orleans, La.—"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough, for I know my daughter never would have been so well if she had not taken it. For more than a year she had suffered agonies from irregularity, backache, dizziness, and no appetite, but is now well. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all mothers and daughters, and you can publish this letter."

—Mrs. A. ESTRADA, 129 N. Galvez Street, New Orleans, La.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"My daughter was feeling tired and all run down with no apparent cause. She had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before and knew its value so she again purchased it and she was able to keep to work, her eyes became bright and natural, and her system was built up completely. We generally keep the Vegetable Compound in the house for it is to be relied on."—Mrs. E. J. PURDY, 5131 Race Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Women Have Been Telling Women for forty years how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored their health when suffering with female ills.

Try it if you are troubled with any ailment peculiar to women.

An actual invasion takes place, however, in spite of the work of scientific inventors to prevent it. At the last minute the aerial torpedoes are manufactured, and they produce a defeat for the invading army. Emerson plays the part of a story writer with a splendid appreciation of comedy, although the picture is not primarily one to cause laughter.

A Charlie Chaplin exclusive comedy, "Police," will furnish lots of fun the last three days of the week. This is the comedy which Chaplin himself says is the best thing he ever did. And he ought to know. Everywhere it has been received with oceans of applause and laughter. The Hearst-Vitaphone will show the very latest news of the world. It is worth watching upon television to any news film now being put on the screen.

OWL THEATRE

The hundreds of Owl theatre patrons of this city will no doubt receive with joy the news that Mme. Petrova, the famous emotional actress, whose wonderful work in "What Will People Say," "The Soul Market" and "The Grinning Productions," is so well known to the local movie fans, returns to that theatre on today and tomorrow, when she will be seen in the stellar role of another five act Metro wonderplay. This photoplay, "The Scarlet Woman," is a play which, in these times of dramatic deeper and startling situations, is one of those tremendously popular plays in which this star has appeared, and to see it is to see Mme. Petrova in a role which will be a revelation even to her most ardent admirers.

The story of this photoplay deals with a nobleman and his wife who after saving her husband when he is in the shadow of the gallows, is sometime later cast off by him. How all the men of her world become infatuated with her beauty, how she preys on all whom she meets, how a disreputable doctor, this time, causes her ruin, later is in turn disgraced through information which she gives to the leader of the reform party; how this man later delivering her to be pure and as good as she seems, marries her, of their wedding and the day when he discovers her past life, how after a misunderstanding, situation leads both into the deep abyss of bitterness and of the true love which brings them together and to happiness at last all form a story of supreme appeal which gives the wonderful Mme. Petrova many chances to display marvellous powers of pantomime and emotional expression.

An excellent comedy and other high-class photoplays will also be presented at the Owl theatre today and tomorrow.

ROYAL THEATRE

Beautiful Kathryn Williams, of untold fame, and Guy Oliver, the modern caveman, with Harry Lonsdale, as the rich lover, is the combination offered in the latest Selig-Vitaphone offering "Into the Primitive" which will be shown at the Royal theatre today and tomorrow. It is a story of jungle life, written especially by Robert Ames

Bennett, and was produced in five stirring reels. Miss Williams plays the part of an American heiress, who is cast ashore on a desert island. On the raft is her lover and a civil engineer, whose rough manners are at first odious to her. Later he defends her from her cowardly lover, hunger-maddened jungle beasts and from herself, and she discovers the strength, kindness and resourcefulness and the honest love of the cave man. Her society lover proves a weakling and a coward, much to her disappointment and her disgust. A lovely romance, with plenty of adventures and remarkable realism. Other fine attractions will complete the program for these two days. "The Salamander" on Wednesday and Thursday is the special attraction in five parts.

ANOTHER BANDIT RAID

TWO COWBOYS CARRIED ACROSS BORDER, BUT ESCAPE—53 HORSES TAKEN

LAREDO, Tex., June 12.—Fifteen Mexican bandits early yesterday attacked four employees on the T. A. Coleman ranch at San Samuel, drove them to the brush and escaped across the Rio Grande with eighty-three horses.

The same party of Mexicans, it is reported, attacked the Johnson and Coleman ranch in the same vicinity last night.

American soldiers were sent in motor trucks to follow the trail of the bandits.

An unverified report last night was that the horses had been recovered, but whether any fighting had taken place was not known.

Two American cowboys, George Conover and Arthur Myers, were captured and carried off, but were released and reached Palacios, Texas, 50 miles from Laredo, late yesterday.

Luis de la Rosa, notorious bandit leader, is said to have been with the party which raided the Johnson and Coleman ranch. The Mexicans had rounded up a bunch of horses when they were discovered by Conover and Myers and a Mexican employee of the ranch, who stampeded the animals. Conover and Myers were taken across the international boundary, according to reports, but escaped.

George A. Alexander, foreman of the T. A. Coleman ranch, with three men, left the ranch at daybreak yesterday, taking the horses to a pasture at Webb, Tex. At 7.30 o'clock, when 12 miles from the Rio Grande, they were attacked from the rear by Mexicans, who eventually followed them. The Mexican rifle fire was too much for the ranchers and they were compelled to take to the brush, abandoning the horses, which the bandits drove off.

Alexander rode to Minera and reported the incident to army officers here by telephone. Arrangements for the pursuit immediately were begun.

HONOR TO DEAD SAILORS

WOMEN'S RELIEF COMPS HELD SERVICES AT TYNGSBORO UNITARIAN CHURCH

Under the auspices of the Women's Relief Corps of James A. Garfield post, 1220, G.A.R., impressive services in honor of the sailor dead were held yesterday at the Unitarian church, Tyngsboro, and at the bridge which spans the Merrimack river at that point. Besides members of the relief corps there were present representatives of Gen. B. F. Butler and Ladd and Whitney posts, G.A.R., Adelbert Ames camp, Spaulding post, Veterans and their families; the Ladies of the G.A.R.; Sons of Veterans and Daughters of Veterans and other patriotic organizations.

The services were held in the church which was filled to its capacity. The program was simple and impressive. The service was opened by Mrs. Frank Flanders, president of the James A. Garfield Relief Corps, who turned the program over to Mrs. Lestina A. Parker, patriotic instructor of the corps. The ritual of the relief corps was read, followed by "Nearer, My God, to Thee," sung by the congregation. Then came a prayer by the pastor of the church, after which there was a salute to the flag by the congregation, with Dracut Boy Scouts as color bearers. "O God of Love, O King of Peace" was beautifully sung by a boys' chorus from St. Anne's church, under the direction of Christopher Alden Williams. Then came the principal address of the day by Capt. William P. White of the United States navy, retired. "Onward, Christian Soldiers," was sung by the congregation, with all its stirring and patriotic appeal, and a brief address by Commander Hunt of Post 120 followed the hymn. "Fight the Good Fight" was rendered by the boys of St. Anne's, and after the benediction by the pastor, the boys' choir sang "Peace, Perfect Peace." During the service beautiful orchestral music was rendered by members of the Dracut troop of Boy Scouts, George Stevens, scoutmaster.

Following the services at the church, those present marched to the Tyngsboro bridge where floral offerings were cast upon the waters of the Merrimack according to the ancient custom.

E. BOSTON MEN FINED

Seven Young Men Caused Disturbance at Billerica—A Shop Lifter Sentenced—Other Cases

Seven young men who claim East Boston as their residence were arrested in Billerica about 12:15 o'clock yesterday morning and sent to the Lowell police station where they were booked on complaints charging them with disturbing the peace.

For several years past the occupants of camps on the banks of the Concord river have been disturbed, especially on Saturday nights by young men, who after imbibing more freely than wisely in the flowing bowl frequent the vicinity and annoy the people by their vile language, loud talking and fighting.

The matter has been reported to the police of Billerica on several occasions and Constables Livingston and O'Brien made up their minds that they were going to rid the town of any rowdies.

Saturday night Frederick B. Benson, Timothy Bowes, James Smith, Walter Carroll, Richard T. O'Brien, Martin Conley and Walter N. Keene, of East Boston, visited a camp in Billerica. Two of the young men are members of the camp but it is understood that the actions of some of the visitors were such that they were ordered out of the place and later they started to raise a disturbance in the street.

When arraigned before Judge Enright in police court this morning each entered a plea of guilty. Judge Enright said he had received so many complaints from campers in Billerica that he had decided that an example should be made of people who annoy peaceful residents of the town. He accordingly found each guilty and imposed a fine of $10, stating that if any of the offenders were brought before the court in the future they would receive a direct sentence.

Present at a Game

Alexander Yakeboski, Michael Sevitski and John Woloski were arrested early yesterday morning on a warrant charging them with being present at a game on the Lord's day. They admitted their guilt and each was ordered to pay a fine of $5.

Ordered to Leave Town

George W. Sweeney who was charged with drunkenness and the larceny of two pipes belonging to some person unknown to the police and a piece of champagne from Woolworth's Five & Ten Cent store, had a narrow escape from being sent to the house of correction after having been found guilty of both drunkenness and larceny. The court, however, felt that Sweeney is an undesirable in Lowell and that if he will keep out of the city the community will be better off. Court Officer Philip Dwyer said that he was called to a local store Saturday afternoon on complaint of the floorwalker of the establishment who had seen Sweeney snatch a mesh bag from a girl. When searched the mesh bag was not found, but two pipes and piece of champagne were brought to light.

Deputy Downey informed the court that the defendant had served time for breaking and entering and also for picking pockets. Sweeney was sentenced to six months in the house of correction, but that sentence was suspended on condition that he leave town within 24 hours.

Disturbing the Peace

Thomas Lorry and Frank Loughlin got into an argument and then decided they would go into the street to have it out with their fists. The result was that both men were arrested and each was ordered to pay a fine of $5.

Designated as a Hobo

"That man is nothing more or less than a hobo," said Deputy Downey, when Daniel Brady was asked to plead to a complaint charging him with drunkenness. He was given a sentence of six months in the house of correction, but that sentence was suspended on condition that he immediately shake the dust of Lowell from his shoes.

Neglected His Wife

Charles H. Odell was charged with being drunk, but after the court heard the testimony in the case he advised Odell's wife to get a divorce from him. He was given a sentence of six months in the house of correction, but that sentence was suspended on condition that he immediately shake the dust of Lowell from his shoes.

alliance had decided to get together to work in New York state for the election of the candidate, probably under the name of the Hughes non-partisan league. The organization, he said, would establish headquarters here and co-operate with the regular republican organization.

Soon after Mr. Hughes had reached the hotel where he at once retired to his room, men prominent in republican politics began to gather in his room. Mr. Hughes received newspapermen and in the course of the forenoon, but declined to discuss his plans. He was asked how it felt "to be drafted for the biggest job in the world."

"I can only say," he replied, "there are certain circumstances under which a matter of duty is supremely clear and leaves no ground for hesitancy. There was no question in this situation as to what I should do. I did it, and in my announcement to the people I endeavored to make my attitude clear."

"I came here to hold consultations in regard to arrangements to the future. I can say nothing in respect to the details at this time."

Mr. Hughes then posed, smilingly, for moving picture and camera men. Mr. Hughes was at Brown university a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity and has long been active in its affairs. Among those who visited him today were four fellow members of a committee of five in that fraternity who for years traveled about the country together establishing new chapters in various colleges. One of them were Edward M. Bassett of Brookline, former democratic congressman and who was active in the campaign for the election of President Wilson.

Mr. Hughes spent the forenoon in receiving callers. Shortly before 11 o'clock, George W. Wickersham, formerly attorney general, appeared and was immediately ushered into Mr. Hughes' room where he went into conference with the candidate. Mr. Wickersham declined to state the object of his visit or to discuss rumors that he was acting as a mediator in plans to obtain progressive support for the republican candidate. He reiterated his denial that he had been lately in consultation with Col. Roosevelt.

into a consultation here, between Charles Evans Hughes, the republican presidential candidate and George W. Wickersham, the mediator—so a rumor went—were made to gain the support of Roosevelt for the republican candidate.

Wickersham, the mediator, said that his visit had any significance at all.

While Mr. Wickersham's conference with the candidate which was held soon after Mr. Hughes' arrival here, in Washington, deeply interested politicians, nothing was allowed to leak out as to the nature of their discussion.

Mr. Wickersham insisted that his visit was purely a personal one.

"I have no expectation of seeing Col. Roosevelt and no mission to see him," said Mr. Wickersham, after emerging from a 35-minute talk with Mr. Hughes.

Others of the many who called upon Mr. Hughes during the forenoon included Henry W. Taft, brother of the former president, United States Senator H. F. Lippitt of Rhode Island, and William C. Fanger, former assistant secretary of war under Theodore Roosevelt.

SOME RAINY DAY GOSSIP

Wet Weather Discourages Base Ball—New Talk of Reducing Circuit—History of "Dog Gone Run"

Just as if the financial burden upon a club manager in a ten-club league with a $100 guarantee to visiting clubs and long jumps, between some of the cities were not sufficient under the most favorable circumstances, to make him pray for a large gate to permit him to quit even, along comes a rainy season, that not only takes away any gate that he might have received but necessitates a dead loss of $100 daily, for every day that he is scheduled to play at home with salaries going on as unrelenting as time and tide.

It is a lucky club manager who will finish the season this year with money to the good though most of them are living in hope, and it is believed, as far as Lowell is concerned, that once the weather gets back to its normal condition, and the Lowell team braces up, or is braced up by a disgruntled management, the crowds will assemble regularly at Spalding park for the remainder of the season, and assist Owners Rouch and Connor to get back some of the long gone gate, thus far, they have gained paid out on "dead horse."

When the Eastern league started its season there was some criticism of the ten-club league proposition, many believing that anything over eight clubs in a league is dangerous. The two long jumps and the $100 guarantee, may have the effect of turning the Eastern league into an eight-club circuit next year, though much depends on just how the season concludes. Two weeks ago many wanted to see New London eliminated by reason of the fact that they believed New London to be too strong for the remainder of the league, and that their over-heaviness would result in a lack of interest on the part of the fans. At that time the writer suggested that Springfield might be depended upon to hold its own with New London, and now it would seem that Long Louie Pieper's outfit isn't afraid to go against the Planters and make them put forth their best efforts. Perhaps when the other teams get going right, New London while the best team in the league in reputation, will not be a very day winner, but in making a comparison between New London and Lowell, as Lowell is going at the present time, one is justified in answering the statement that New London is too strong for the league, with the contention that Lowell as it has been performing for the past few days, is too weak for the league. The local boys have not been there, either with "per" or performance. Manager Lord's work has been disappointing and maybe the situation is similar to that which existed when Cuke Barrows was home. When he was here, Barrows was at the helm, but once he relinquished control, conditions improved wonderfully, and Barrows himself started to burn up the league by his fast work. Perhaps if Lord were not manager, he, too, might do better than he has been doing. Many thought that Lord would be able to connect with a number of first class players, but the only man he has produced is Tom Downey, and thus far, Tom's name hasn't been suggested for the Hall of Fame, though he looks good.

Question of Circuits

But getting back to the ten-club proposition, and the discussed move to reduce the circuit to eight clubs, the rub would come in deciding upon what to eliminate. The longest jumps are to Portland on the north and Bridgeport on the south, but Portland and Bridgeport are a couple of first class ball towns, and Bridgeport has the additional financial advantage of Sunday games. New London is a poor paying town, and thus far, the two leagues have been in financial backing, while its location is in its favor as lying close to Hartford and New Haven.

It isn't by any means a fact, that all leagues with more than eight clubs go to smash for if one goes back quarter of a century or thereabouts, he will recall the success of the national league with a 12-club circuit. In 1920 the Brotherhood broke away from the National league and started an eight-club league of his own, known as the Players' league. The result: both leagues had and nobody wanted them. The two leagues arranged conflicting dates and the fans became discouraged.

ing disgusted, remained away from town. The Brotherhood opened in Boston with an attendance of 19,000, playing on the Congress street grounds, while the Nationals at the old South End grounds mustered in less than 5000. At the end of the season the Players' league bought the Cincinnati and Pittsburgh teams and left the National league with but six clubs. But during the winter the rival clubs in New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago were consolidated and the Players' league went down and out. In 1931 the American association came into the line, light as a rival of the National league, doing just what the Federal league did a few years ago. It went back on the National agreement, and by boosting the salaries of the stars stole away a number of the best men in the National league. In 1932 the National league put the American association out of business by taking in four of its teams and starting a 12-club league consisting of Boston, New York, Chicago, Brooklyn, Pittsburgh, Louisville, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Philadelphia, Washington, St. Louis and Baltimore. Thus the American association was thus far, they have gained paid out on "dead horse."

"Get that Dog-gone Run!"

While out at Spalding Park recently, I heard one of the coaches, I don't recall which one, repeatedly use the expression: "Bring in that dog-gone run!" I wondered if he were aware of the fact that baseball history has recorded such a thing as a "dog-gone run." Boston was the scene of the only "dog-gone" run on record, and only "Pop" Anson of Chicago, one of the greatest ball players of all times, tells about it as follows: "I remember one queer incident that occurred during that season (1893), and while we were playing in Boston. Henry E. Dixey, the actor, who was then playing a summer engagement at the 'Hub,' had driven out to the grounds as usual in his buckboard with his pet bull-terrier, 'Dago,' in the seat beside him. Dixey always retained his seat in his rig and took up his place right back of the left field. Dixie had not been on the ground more than 20 minutes when Dahlen cupped the ball for a three-bagger. It was one of those long, low, hard drives, and sailed about ten feet over the left-fielder's head and in a direct line for Dixie. He couldn't have gotten out of the way had he tried, but the fact was that he didn't see the ball until it was too late. He knew it was when he heard a sharp yelp at his side, and saw poor 'Dago' tumbling off his seat between the wheels. The dog was dead when picked up, the ball having broken his neck. Between the yellow buck-board, the dead canine, the frightened horses and Dixie's excitement, the whole field was in an uproar and it was fully ten minutes before we could get down to playing again, but Dahlen, the cause of it all, didn't even see the affair, and scored on the death of 'Dago,' his being the only genuine case of making a dog-gone run that has ever come under my observation."

Tip to Lowell Team

The South End Social club is to appear in the Preparedness parade next Wednesday evening, headed by its baseball team in uniform. Why not the Lowell team? They'll get back from Lynn in time to appear in the parade. With Sergeant Dan Finn, U.S.A., retired, to lead them, the boys would have the unique distinction of being commanded by a genuine soldier boy, for Sgt. Finnery has seen service from the wilderness of Alaska where the natives are clothed in bearskin, to the Philippines where most of the day was in bare skin. Sgt. Finnery having also seen service with the Indians of the west, is eminently fitted to lead the Lowell team.

IS ALECK LOSING GRIP?

Is Grover Cleveland Alexander losing his effectiveness? In the last three series the Phils have played Aleck like a cat with a bunch of mice, and he has received sundry bumps in attempting to subdue the enemy, and this has had a depressing effect on the remainder of the team.

THE ROBINS KNOCKED ALEXANDER FROM THE MOUND IN ONE OF THE GAMES IN THE RECENT SERIES BETWEEN THE TEAMS IN THE QUAKER CITY, AND THE GIANTS ALSO DROVE MORRIS' MEN FROM THE HILL IN THE AFTERNOON GAME ON DECORATION DAY. ON SATURDAY ALECK MANAGED TO BEAT THE CARDINALS, BUT HE GAVE THEM NINE HITS, AND IT WAS ONLY WONDERFUL FELDING ON THE PART OF STOCK, WHITTIED, NIEHOFF AND PASKETT THAT ENABLED HIM TO PULL OUT A VICTORY.

MANAGER CALLAHAN SAYS ALL WESTERN CLUBS OF BOTH LEAGUES WILL ALSO IMPROVE

NEW YORK, June 12.—Manager Jimmy Callahan of the Pirates is not ready to concede superiority on the part of the Eastern clubs of the National league.

"The west will take care of itself, never fear," said James C. "not only in the Tanager circuit but in Ban Johnson's league as well."

I admit that the west looked rather soft in comparison to the east in the first inter-sectional games," said the minstrel manager. "But I haven't seen the east walking over the west in spite of the advantages of home support on our visit to this section."

"A great-to-do was made over the successes of western clubs in the west, as it was generally believed that you fellows had all the worse of the early spring weather. Now as a matter of fact we western cities were inconvenienced far more than you of the east this spring. We played more of

"Duke" Says McGilivray is "There" in the Water

"Duke" Kahanamoku is the swiftest swimmer and slowest talker in the world. The "Duke" has swum a hundred yards in 53 1-5 seconds and no one else has done it quite so quickly. As a conversationalist he probably also holds the world's record time for the fewest words uttered in an hour, but unfortunately no official records regarding this unique feat have been kept.

The "Duke" has just arrived in San Francisco from a tour of the country that enabled him to compete in all the national swimming championships.

He won the 50 yards at Chicago, covering the distance in 23 1-5 seconds, a fifth slower than the record which he holds. All the "Duke" had to say was: "Pretty good race, McGilivray kept close, Hehner, too. I won by a touch." The time may be a record for a record for an indoor tank, though the "Duke" has done better in the open.

The 100 yards was held at Pittsburgh and was won by McGilivray in 57 seconds. Kahanamoku was second and Ralph the shark was third.

"Long journey in train; no practice stuff," was how the "Duke" explained his defeat. The night of the race he left for New York and without any rest after his journey had to swim against the eastern currents in the 200 yards. He was not even placed in the heats and Volmer won in the five time of 2:23 2-5. The "Duke" considers Volmer a great swimmer, but on the whole regards McGilivray as the best man he met in the trip.

He is a student of the University of California at Berkeley and is now in the country just now. At St. Louis the 50 yards was won by Ted Carr in 6:03 2-5. When he does not win the "Duke" is second. He was on this occasion about a length behind.

"But if he did they would just shoot at his records. The 'Duke' enjoys traveling, so he loafs in the liquid to encourage the boys." This may not be true, but it is what the average Hawaiianlander undoubtedly believes. They regard Kahanamoku as unbeatable.

An interesting view of the greatest of all swimmers was given by a Hawaiian friend. "He can beat 'em all easily if he wants," said the visitor, who desires to remain anonymous. "But if he did they would just shoot at his records. The 'Duke' enjoys traveling, so he loafs in the liquid to encourage the boys." CELEBRATION AT TECH.

CLASS DAY EXERCISES—CORNER STONE OF NEW BUILDING LAID—OTHER FEATURES

BOSTON, June 12.—The great Technology celebration, for which undergraduates and alumni have been preparing for weeks, opened officially at 10:30 o'clock this morning, in the Rogers building of the group which has been abandoned. This event, appropriately termed "Farewell to Rogers," was marked by an address by James P. Munroe, '22, President Macaulay introduced him.

It had been intended to begin the celebration with the dress rehearsal of the pageant in the great court of the new buildings Saturday night. Because of the rain, however, it was postponed until 8 o'clock this evening. Following this morning's exercises in the Rogers building, the various fraternal groups gave luncheons in their chapter houses.

At 2 o'clock the scene changed to the site of the new buildings across the Charles, where the corner stone of the Walker Memorial, which will contain Tech. Students' union and gymnasium, was laid, headed by Prof. Harry W. Tyler as marshal, the alumni marched from the new buildings to the site of the Memorial, under escort of the M. I. T. battalion. After an address by President Macaulay, Prof. C. E. Winslow, '39, of Yale university, will make the presentation address, with a response by E. P. Brooks, president of the junior class.

"Old Home Afternoon"

Then will come "Old Home Afternoon." The campus will include inspection of the new buildings; tea; a dress parade by the Technology regiment; an exhibit, "Fifty Years of Technology"; and events on the Charles river basin, to be reviewed by Assistant Secretary of the Navy Franklin D. Roosevelt. For the convenience of the spectators all traffic over Harvard bridge will be stopped between 2 and 6 o'clock this afternoon, and again between 7 and 10:30 o'clock tomorrow evening. Between 10:30 and 11:30 o'clock tomorrow evening, Boylston street and Huntington avenue cars will be diverted via Columbus avenue and Dartmouth street, in both directions. The Elevated will provide extra service in the Cambridge square, connecting with the Tremont street subway and the Washington street tunnel.

This evening's program will include a reception and tea dance by the senior class in the new Tech. buildings; class dinners; a Golden Jubilee banquet at Boston City club, at which 2,000 men are expected to be present; a senior class smoker at the Hotel Bellevue; a public rehearsal of the pageant in the great court of the new buildings; and a farewell gathering at the Rogers building, attended by alumni and undergraduates.

SURVIVOR OF SUSSEX

FITCHBURG MAN WAS UNCONSCIOUS FOR THREE WEEKS—SURVIVED HIS INJURIES

NEW YORK, June 12.—The American liner Philadelphia, which sailed from Liverpool June 3, docked here at 5 p. m. yesterday. She was met by a throng of onlookers and a large number of reporters. She was damaged by a collision with the tramp steamer Rochester by only a few yards.

She brought in her steerage 256 fresh girls, most of whom were to become servants. This is the first group of future servants that have arrived in this country for several months.

Perhaps the most interesting person on board was George H. Crocker, Jr., of Fitchburg, Mass., one of the survivors of the ill-fated steamship Sussex, which was wrecked off the coast of England. Mr. Crocker walked with a stick. He told an amazing story of his adventures.

"I was a passenger on the Sussex on my way to France to join the Hartle's ambulance unit with the French army," said Mr. Crocker, who is 23 and a student at the University of Maine. "I was standing up in the bow as far as I could get, looking in the general direction of France, and right there my mummy came. You see, the torpedo hit us, but I didn't know anything about that."

"Well, I was unconscious for three weeks. They said I would have been abandoned in the wreckage if one of my feet hadn't stuck out. They brought me ashore at Dover and found I had a fractured skull, a lacerated brain, an injured stomach and various other injuries."

While I was still unconscious they carried me to London. There, when I revived, they told me all I had done during the three weeks I was told that I ate just as if I knew what I was doing and enjoyed it. The doctors told me that I should be all right in about 18 months more. I believe if I hadn't been so young and healthy I never would have survived."

Another survivor of a vessel torpedoed by Germans was Albert Osbrook, who lives in Iowa. Osbrook, who was a stowaway and worked his passage across, said he was a sailor in the four-masted Norwegian bark Linfield, which was torpedoed on St. Patrick's day off the Irish coast. He added that all the crew of 23 were saved.

It was rumored that T. Matthews, a fireman, committed suicide by hanging on June 7 and was buried at sea the next day. Matthews had been cut down on two occasions, and his body was abandoned in the wreckage of a ship. He had been placed in a strait jacket, but he escaped from the restraint and was dead when discovered.

BIG BRITISH SHIP ARRIVES

Reached Boston With $2,000,000 Cargo—Twice in Claws of Germans But Escaped

BOSTON, June 12.—The big British steamer Clan Buchanan, which arrived in Boston last night with a cargo valued at nearly $2,000,000, narrowly missed destruction twice on the long passage here from Calcutta, once from the bombs of a German aeroplane, and another time from a hostile submarine.

The Clan Buchanan is the first to reach Boston for more than six months from India, via the Mediterranean. Most of the steamers have come by the Cape of Good Hope route to avoid the submarine perils of the Mediterranean.

At Port Said, as the steamer was leaving the Suez canal, British naval authorities ordered an eight inch gun mounted on the after deck as protection against submarines and a crew of expert gunners from the navy was sent along to man the big gun. The vessel carried the armament as far as Gibraltar.

While the gun was being mounted at Port Said, two German aeroplanes made a raid on the fleet of warships on duty there and the many merchant vessels in the port.

Hundreds of shells were dropped and one passed within a few feet of the big Boston-bound freighter. The shells exploded near the ship and those on board had a narrow escape from injury by the flying fragments. Several other shells burst close to the steamer and the engine shop near the pier where the Clan Buchanan was tied up was set afire by the German bombs.

The Arab crew of the Clan Buchanan were panic-stricken and refused to work the rest of the day. It was two days later before they fully quieted. Officers of the freighter told a reporter last night that the Germans were very daring and the machines made daring swoops over the shipping below.

The British warships fired on the air raiders without success on their first visit, but two days later one of the machines returned. Before the task of dropping bombs again could be commenced a 10-inch gun on a British dreadnaught was trained on the flying craft and the first shot went true to its mark, blowing the air raider to atoms.

The Clan Buchanan proceeded through the Mediterranean at full speed while double watches kept a sharp lookout for submarines and the big gun on the after deck was kept in readiness for instant action. The steamer was painted dark gray to resemble a cruiser and at night the lights were screened.

After the vessel had safely passed Malta a message by wireless informed these aboard that a submarine had been sighted in waters through which the Boston-bound boat had passed less than four hours before. Officers stated that a large fleet of warships and patrol boats were stationed in the Mediterranean to protect British shipping from the undersea raiders.

As the big freighter was nearing Nantucket Friday night a fierce electrical storm was encountered and when it had passed the steamer ran into thick fog which continued until Boston was reached.

HOME RULE

PLAN OUT

Lloyd George Would Put Act Into Operation

Part of Ulster Excluded Pending Action After the War

DUBLIN, June 12.—An official report issued by the nationalist party concerning its recent meeting, gives the history of the situation resulting from Premier Asquith's visit to Ireland and the appointment of David Lloyd George to negotiate a settlement of the differences between the Irish factions. The statement says Premier Asquith returned from Ireland profoundly convinced that the Castle government was completely broken down, and that he made no attempt to set it up again by the appointment of either a lord lieutenant or a chief secretary for Ireland.

It gives the proposals of Mr. Lloyd George, formulated in his own responsibility, as a result of his consultations with all the parties, which may be regarded as the government's proposals. The proposals were:

First.—To bring the home rule act into immediate operation.

Second.—To introduce forthwith an amending bill as a strictly war emergency act.

Third.—That during the interim the Irish members were to remain in Westminster in their full numbers.

Fourth.—That during the war emergency period the six Ulster counties should remain under the imperial government.

Fifth.—That immediately after the war an imperial conference of representatives of all dominions to be held to consider the future government of the empire, including the government of Ireland.

Sixth.—That following this conference and in the interval provided by the war emergency act, a permanent settling of all great outstanding problems would be proceeded with.

The foregoing proposals were set out briefly in a speech made at a meeting by John Redmond, who stated that no conference had been held between the opposing parties, each side submitting proposals to its own supporters.

The meeting adjourned after having passed unanimously resolutions protesting against the continuance of martial law in Ireland and condemning both the personnel of and the terms of reference to the commission appointed to investigate the recent rising.

MORE OFFICERS

Mayor Takes Up Matter of More "Cops" With Supt. Welch

The following letter from the mayor to the superintendent of police and having to do with the appointment of more patrolmen is self explanatory:

Lowell, Mass., June 12, 1916.
Mr. Redmond Welch,
Supt. of Police,
Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: Early in the year the recommendation was made to the municipal council, that the police appropriation for 1916 be made sufficient to provide for the appointment of ten additional patrolmen, but while the need for men was apparent, it was deemed inexpedient at that time to make provision for their appointment on account of the city's financial condition.

Six months have passed and we have since had numerous demands for police protection for the parks and commons during the summer months, and for an increased traffic service, while one of our traffic problems has become open. During that time also we have kept the expenses of the police department down to a minimum and have conducted the department as economically as could be done consistent with efficiency.

There is no doubt that more patrolmen are needed this June, to police the park system during the summer months and for traffic service during the summer months and for a view to relieving this situation, I would request that you make a careful analysis of the departmental expenses for the remainder of the year, for I am of the opinion that by the continued exercise of judicious economy, after our experience in the past, it is possible to appoint a few men for work during the summer, out of our regular appropriation. Kindly acquaint me with the result of your analysis as soon as possible.

Respectfully yours,
James F. O'Donnell,
Mayor of Lowell.

N. E. DELEGATES LEAVE BOSTON

BOSTON, June 12.—New England delegates to the democratic national convention at St. Louis started for that city on a special train today. The delegates from this state and Maine formed the nucleus of the party which was joined at New York by the New Hampshire representatives and at Greenfield by the Vermont delegation and some of the delegates from Connecticut.

Former Gov. David I. Walsh, a delegate at large, was not with the Massachusetts party, as he is in the Philippines. His place will be filled by vote of the delegation en route. The selection of the next national convention from this state probably will be made at the same time. Dr. John W. Coughlin of Fall River is opposed for re-election by Michael A. O'Nary, chairman of the state committee.

TO ATTACK MEXICO CITY

Zapata Encamped With a Large Body of Men Within Thirty Miles of Capital

NEW YORK, June 12.—Zapata, considered by Mexicans as the most formidable factional leader now opposing the Carranza government, is encamped with a large body of well equipped men within thirty miles of Mexico City and an attack on the capital is expected at any time, according to Howard L. Francis, an engineer, recently connected with the Mexico City Tramway Co., who arrived here today on the steamship Merro Castle from Havana.

Mr. Francis said that he left Mexico "in a hurry" to avoid arrest, suspicion being directed against him on account of his activity to secure the release of H. A. Dunn, chief engineer of the tramway company—a British controlled organization—who was seized and thrown into jail three weeks ago. He added that the charges against Mr. Dunn were not made public.

Mr. Francis described business conditions in Mexico as "chaotic."

JAPANESE WITH MEXICAN BANDITS IN LAST RAID

LAREDO, Tex., June 12.—George Conover, an American cowboy, who with Arthur Meyers, was captured yesterday by the Mexican bandits that raided the T. A. Coleman ranch at San Samuel, arrived in Laredo today after a thirty mile trip on foot.

Conover said the band which sought to drive 30 head of horses across the border was composed of five Mexicans and two Japanese. The Japanese, he said, were later captured by the Mexican government troops. Conover said he was treated well by the Mexicans but the two Japanese wanted to hang him.

The bandits left Conover and Meyers in a secluded place and told the Americans to await their return. The Americans fled, hiding in the brush when the Mexicans came back to look for them.

A number of armed citizens and state rangers were dispatched to Webb, Tex., north of here, today when it was reported that railroad bridges were being burned. The report was found groundless but the rangers took in custody two Mexicans supposed to have been connected with the band participating in the Coleman ranch raid.

GEN. GAVIRA LEAVES FOR MEXICO CITY

EL PASO, Tex., June 12.—Gen. Gavira, Carranza commander in chief, left for Mexico City yesterday in response to a summons from War Minister Obregon.

DENY THAT HORSEMEN CROSSED RIO GRANDE

MERCEDES, Tex., June 12.—Reports that 30 horsemen had crossed the Rio Grande south of Donna are declared to be untrue by Capt. Haines and Lieut. Glass of Troop C, third cavalry, who returned here today after an investigation last night. They found no trace of bandits.

The report that American soldiers engaged with Mexicans across the river at Progresso on Friday, is also reported to be erroneous.

MORE ANTI-AMERICAN FEELING IN NORTHERN MEXICO

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Increasing excitement, and anti-American feeling throughout northern Mexico is described in today's dispatches to the state department. In many cases it was said at the department, the Carranza authorities appear to be indifferent to what is going on.

Neither details of the reports nor information as to the points "heard" from were made public on the ground that the work of American consuls would be handicapped.

Officials made no attempt to conceal their anxiety over the situation which apparently is crystallizing in the northern Mexican states.

INDUSTRIAL AND STORE NEWS

A very interesting labor meeting was held yesterday afternoon in the basement of the Greek Orthodox church in Jefferson street. The meeting was attended by nearly 500 men and was presided over by Thomas J. Noyes, president of the community.

Among the speakers who spoke interestingly on labor organizations and working conditions in Lowell were Frank Varneke and Charles E. Anderson, president and secretary respectively of the Trades and Labor council. The discourses, which were in the English language, were translated to Greek by Mr. Noyes.

Moulders Met

The members of the Iron Moulders' union, who are on strike in this city, held an interesting meeting at 32 Middle-street this forenoon. The meeting was largely attended and considerable business concerning the members of the organization was transacted. It was reported that the strike situation in Lowell remains practically the same.

Auction Sale

The plant of the Tremont Worsted mills at Methuen, will be sold in one lot to the highest bona fide bidder on Wednesday, June 21, at 2.30 o'clock. The premises are at the head of Pine avenue and the total square feet of floor space contained in the manufacturing buildings is 21,662. The sale will be conducted by Auctioneers J. E. Conant & Co. of this city.

Bon Marche

The employees of the Bon Marche, at the request of Manager Gilmore, held a meeting Saturday evening for the purpose of discussing the question of whether or not they should take part in the Preparedness parade. All employees of the store were present and although the men favored participating in the parade, the women defeated the proposition. Inasmuch as the women refused to parade, the men folks decided it would be best for them to take part in the parade with their respective fraternal or social organizations.

J. L. Chalfoux Co.

The clerks of the J. L. Chalfoux Co.'s store will take part in the Preparedness parade and it was stated this morning that the delegation will be headed by Harold L. Chalfoux. Inasmuch as Mr. Chalfoux has not time to drill those who will be in his division, he has transferred that part of the work to William Soucy, who is connected with Battery C and tomorrow evening Instructor Soucy will escort his paraders to the South common and there give them a hint or two as to how to turn a wheel.

OUTING POSTPONED

Yesterday was the tenth anniversary of the founding of Branch St. Marie, C. F. of South Lowell, and the officers of the organization had organized an outing for the members and their friends to commemorate the anniversary. The affair was to be held at McGlone's farm, Billerica, but on account of the bad weather the event was postponed to Sunday, July 2. The committee in charge wish it understood that the event did not take place yesterday as announced in a morning paper today, but, weather permitting, will be carried out on July 2.

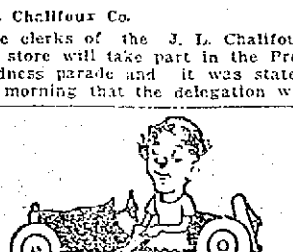

TIED LOOKING WOMEN

Some women always wear a worn, tired look. It is the outward sign of nervousness, neurasthenia perhaps, with its characteristic symptoms of worry, headaches and sleeplessness.

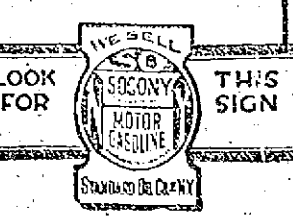

Overwork, grief, undue excitement, the late hours and nervous strain of a strenuous social season, lack of outdoor exercise, any or all of these may be responsible for the trouble but the most common cause at this season of the year is the grip.

Whatever the cause, if you feel the need of more strength, try the great non-alcoholic tonic, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed toward building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and with proper regulation of the diet have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to anemia, or bloodlessness, shown by most neurasthenic patients, is also corrected by these tonic pills. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents per box or six boxes $2.50.

Write for the booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System," and a diet book. Address: Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.
